HUSKIES BEAT CALIFORNIA CREW TEN LENGTHS

Set New Record In Annual Contest Taking Place On Oakland Estuary

OAKLAND, April 11.—Seven thousand spectators banked both sides of the Oakland estuary here today and saw the University of Washington 'varsity crew do the expected and win from the University of California in their annual regatta, which proved, however, to be one of the hardest-fought races ever held between these two traditional crew rivals.

Washington swept in ahead of the Bears by ten lengths. The Huskies rowed with a poise and a finish that was beautiful to behold and their victory over the Bears was never in doubt. They were masters of the situation.

California was a worthy contender, keeping the northerners hard-pressed at all times. Getting off to an immediate lead, the Huskies were never in danger of being overtaken. Both crews fairly skimmed over the course in one of the most flawless races ever rowed between the two institutions.

Bears Exhausted

The Bear crew was exhausted after the race. Don Locke, the California bow man, fell on his back as the race ended. Three other members of the Bruin crew were near collapse. The Washington crew rowed to the boat house fresh after they had crossed the line.

The time was 15 minutes, 9 seconds, setting a new record for the local estuary.

The California boat took a sprinting start, rowing a thirty-six, and jumped into the lead. The national intercollegiate champions drove their boat a steady pace and before the mile mark was reached there was clear water between the boats.

Washington was rowing thirty-four and the California boat thirty-six. When the two-mile flag was passed, five lengths of open water was between the shells and Washington had dropped to a thirty-two.

The Husky boat won the race with its oars out of the water. The oarsmen came out of bow quickly and clean with their slides shooting back with perfect co-ordination as the white-tipped oars coasted.

California put up a wonderful fight, nevertheless. The men forgot form and gave all their endurance and strength. Hopelessly out-classed, they pulled a high stroke the last two miles in a vain effort to overhaul the perfectly-trained Washington crew.

Electric Plant Blast Kills Six In Russia

MOSCOW, April 11.—Six persons were killed and three injured in an explosion today at the Tashken electric plant.

Southland Is Promised Sun All Day Easter

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Easter weather will be very much "unsettled" except in Southern California, where, according to the weather man, Milady can sport her new Easter finery without likelihood of its being sprinkled by showers.

"Probably occasional rains" was the prediction for Central and Northern California and Washington and Oregon.

Considerable cloudiness, temperature normal or above, and occasional rains, is the outlook for the Pacific states for next week.

France Waits On Easter for 'Man of Hour'

PARIS, April 11—France's "man of the hour" will be announced tomorrow by President Doumergue.

Among the last visitors to the Elysees palace were Deputies Loucheur and Louis Marin.

"The world will know Sunday who France's next premier is to be," said Loucheur as he left the palace.

Almost every name of any prominence in French politics from former Ministers Briand and Poincare to Herriot himself again were mentioned in Paris this evening as a possible choice of the president.

The only definite conclusion at which political circles were able to arrive was that the radical socialist party would continue as the predominating political influence in France.

WAR DEBT IS HIT IN FALL OF HERRIOT

French Payment Is Further Delayed By Resignation Of Cabinet

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Any prospects of early negotiations for funding the $4,000,000,000 French war debt have been dispelled by the downfall of the Herriot ministry in France, according to the views expressed by treasury officials today who are cognizant of the state of French finances.

Herriot's resignation, following on the heels of the financial crisis, has served to create a situation, they said, that can only result in further and indefinite delay in any adjustment of the French debt and because the other principal debtors, Italy and Belgium, look to France for leadership in adjudication of their debts to the United States, administration officials vision a long delay.

The pessimistic view entertained here with regard to debt adjustment was heightened by the belief that Herriot's successor, whoever he may be, will be of strong nationalistic tendencies and this school of French thought, headed by ex-Premier Poincare, has always been more or less openly antagonistic to funding negotiations.

Much of the propaganda for cancellation of war debts, which has been pursued assiduously since the war, is attributed to Poincare and his associates. Now, it was pointed out today, they have accomplished defeat of the Herriot government at a time when chances appeared brightening for early settlement of negotiations.

The situation is of peculiar interest to the administration at this time because Garrard B. Winston, under-secretary of the treasury, is on the sea bound for Paris and London on a mission closely allied with the debt controversy.

Facing Problem

It is understood here that one of the prime purposes of Winston's trip is to obtain an understanding with British officials concerning the French debt. France owes Great Britain approximately $3,000,000,000 and the united States approximately $4,000,000,000. For France to attempt payment of either debt first would not set well with the country that had to wait and consequently some understanding is necessary between the American and British treasuries.

RADICALS TO KEEP REINS IN FRANCE

Socialist Party Expects To Retain Power Despite Herriot's Absence

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, April 11.—The radical Socialist party will continue to rule France despite the resignation of Premier Herriot.

This declaration was made today by Casels, president of the radical Socialist group in the Chamber of Deputies.

"I have just conferred with President Doumergue and we are in agreement," Casels told the press.

Deputy Flandin, secretary of the left Republican party, called to see the president and said to newspapermen:

"Present indications are that Maurice Sarraut, who is a brother of former Minister Sarraut, will be invited by President Doumergue tomorrow to form a new government."

In the face of the government's apparent hope that Sarraut would accept the premiership, Sarraut said he would decline the portfolio if offered.

Paul Painleve, president of the Chamber of Deputies and mentioned as a possible premier, only smiled when he was shown the Paris Midi's announcement of the "tentative Painleve cabinet" as he was leaving Elysees palace after a talk with President Doumergue.

The "tentative cabinet" named Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Anatole De Monsie, minister of finance; M. Nollet, minister of war; M. Loucheur, minister of commerce and Louis Marin, minister of the interior.

"I can only say I believe we have reached an agreement which will enable satisfactory settlement of the cabinet crisis," Painleve told the press as he left the palace.

Prisoner, 90, Denied Pardon From Folsom

SACRAMENTO, April 11.—Folsom's oldest convict, William Simpson, 90, Civil war veteran, was today denied parole by the state board of prison directors, on the ground that he is unable to support himself and has no place to go if he were paroled.

Simpson, who is also one of the oldest men at the prison in point of time served, has spent twenty-two years of a forty-year sentence behind the walls of the penitentiary. He was sentenced to the prison from Placer county on a robbery charge.

Thomas Gannon, Sacramento member of the prison board, said that the prison directors would gladly release the aged war veteran if one of the old soldiers' homes would agree to care for him.

Beware Of Slates!

Voters at next Tuesday's election should beware of slated tickets made up of candidates who may have given pre-election promises or agreements as to appointments of heads of municipal departments and to the giving of patronage or "favors" to concerns that are working for the success of the slate.

When five candidates out of twenty-one pool themselves, or are pooled, there is an underlying cause for such an act—and such a cause would not meet with the commendation of the voters, should they become aware of the subtleness of the designers of the pool. Therefore, it would seem to be wisdom on the part of voters NOT to vote the offered "straight" ticket.

The voter's choice of five candidates should be made from the list of twenty-one names appearing below, considering the merits of each individual candidate as separate from any slated ticket.

The Glendale Evening News suggests that the VOTERS DO THEIR OWN THINKING! Voters should RESENT attempts on the part of others to vote for them by presenting PREPARED tickets. Voters can REBUKE makers of slates by exercising their right of freedom to mark their ballots as their OWN intelligence directs them.

Voters have before them good material for five councilmen. A slate should be looked upon with suspicion, for somebody, somewhere, somehow expects to benefit for boosting a slate. VOTERS SHOULD DO THEIR OWN THINKING and from out of the twenty-one candidates select five to vote for—that's the intelligent way, that's the American way, that's the way all GOOD citizens will choose. Here are the names of the candidates. Make up your OWN list.

GRANTS GRADE TO PALMER AVENUE

State Railroad Commission Acts Favorably On Plea For Improvement

Permission was granted today by the State Railroad commission in session at San Francisco to the city of Glendale to construct Palmer avenue at grade across the tracks of the Pacific Electric railway between San Fernando and Sycamore Canyon roads, when that street is paved on a 40-foot roadway between the two roads named.

Palmer avenue is approximately 30 feet in width at the present time, with a old, light paving. Property owners recently petitioned the City Council to open Palmer avenue at grade across the Pacific Electric tracks, and a hearing was conducted by the railroad commission in Los Angeles several weeks ago.

May Now Petition

With the permission granted today by the commission, property owners now will be required to petition the City Council for widening of the street to 40 feet and paving with either three or five-inch macadam, it was pointed out by city officials. This improvement would make Palmer avenue one of the main thoroughfares of Glendale.

The commission also authorized the installation of a temporary grade crossing over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railway at Broadway, pointing out, however, that the most logical location for a permanent crossing is at or near Colorado boulevard.

Gardena Refused

The application of the city to construct Gardena boulevard at grade across the tracks of the Pacific Electric railway adjacent

M'COY TAKES LAST FLING ON FERRY

Ex-Pugilist Throws Dishes At Newspapermen As Prison Looms

SAN QUENTIN, April 11.—Norman Selby, the "Kid" McCoy of ring fame and many loves, had one last wild fing today before he entered prison to begin serving a sentence of from four to thirty-eight years for the slaying of his last sweetheart, Teresa Mors, wealthy Los Angeles antique dealer.

Just before his arrival here, he ran amuck on the ferry boat bringing him to Point San Quentin from Richmond. When newspaper cameramen insisted on taking pictures of him eating his last breakfast "outside," McCoy jumped up with a cry of rage, seized dishes and hurled them at the newspapermen.

Camera Suffers

A pepper shaker, thrown with a true aim, smashed the lens of one camera, held by a cameraman who stood directly in front of the "Kid."

Still shouting curses, McCoy tried to leap across the counter but subsided when Deputy Sheriff C. E. Blaisdell rushed to his side. Later he apologized.

This wild outburst was the only break in his genial composure. He entered the prison gates with a sneer and a laugh.

He was given the number 40716 and was sent to the hospital for examination. He will be sent to the jute mill Wednesday.

Wears Faded Flower

McCoy wore, perhaps as a reminder of lost loves, a faded carnation in the lapel of his dirt-stained and torn coat. He guarded

LOCAL MAN IS URGED FOR POSITION

Governor Asked to Name Prominent Realtor As Keiser's Successor

Charles B. Guthrie, head of the realty firm which bears his name, organizer of the Glendale Realty board and prominent in the activities and managements of the local and state real estate associations for a number of years, was today endorsed by the directors of the Glendale Realty board as possible successor to Edwin T. Keiser, state real estate commissioner, who has signified his intention to retire from the office on May 1.

When the first announcement was made by Commissioner Keiser that he contemplaed resigning his office, Glendale realtors asked Mr. Guthrie if he would consider the place. This morning the members of the board of directors of the local association met and unanimously endorsed Mr. Guthrie for the position and passed a resolution recommending to Governor Richardson that the Glendale man be considered.

This action was taken only after a number of Glendale realtors had been in communication with oather real estate associations throughout the state and had been assured Mr. Guthrie would be satisfactory to them and that other associations would endorse him.

In passing the resolutions today, the directors of the local association made it plain that the position would not be sought as a political proposition or as a reward of favoritism, but solely upon the merits and qualifications of Mr. Guthrie to fill the office in a capable, efficient and satisfactory manner.

Mr. Guthrie has served as a director of the California Real Estate association, was vice-president of the seventh district last year, and this year is a director at large in the state association. Last year there were twenty-three cities in the seventh district, in and around Los Angeles, and all were represented by realty boards.

Prominent in Work

He has been active in the state association and realty matters throughout California for the past fourteen years. He has been a resident of Glendale since 1911, and has been actively engaged in the realty business here for the past five years.

In 1920 Mr. Guthrie organized the Glendale Realty board and was unanimously elected its first president. He has served three years as director and has been prominently connected with affairs of the board. His office is located at 208 South Brand boulevard.

THUMBS DOWN ON ELECTION MEASURES

Of Dozen Or More Presented All But Three Killed By Lawmakers

SACRAMENTO, April 11.—Out of a score or more election bills introduced at the present legislative session, all but three have been discarded before they reached the floor of either house, according to a check completed today by the chairmen of the Senate and Assembly election committees.

Practically all of the measures killed by the committees embodied proposed changes in the California direct primary ranging from a bill to limit a candidate to the nomination of his own party to an act providing for the return of the old party circle ballot. Still another proposal which received a "thumbs down" decision was a bill to consolidate the state and presidential primary elections.

The three election bills to survive committee action, and which will be before the legislature next week, provide as follows:

1. Election of members of the legislature on a non-partisan basis.

2. Nomination of candidates for state offices by the sponsor system.

3. Nomination by petition of independent candidates for presidential elector.

Senator Frank S. Boggs, sponsor of the measure to do away with party politics in the election of the legislature, declared today that party lines are never drawn in legislative fights and that he is confident his bill will be passed.

HOLD MOTHER IN STRANGE DEATHS OF FAMILY

Husband, Three Sons And Daughter Buried; Last Son Reported Dying

BULLETIN

CHICAGO, April 11.—A can of arsenic was found in the drawer of the kitchen table of the Gary, Ind., home of Mrs. Anna Cunningham late today, a few hours after she had been taken into custody for questioning regarding the deaths of her husband, three sons and one daughter, and the supposedly fatal illness of her last remaining son, David.

The poison was found by Assistant State's Attorneys John Sbarbaro and Joseph Savage, who went to Mrs. Cunningham's home in Gary this afternoon, accompanied by three squads of police and conducted a thorough search of the cottage.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Recommendations that the bodies of five members of the David Cunningham family who have died sudden deaths within the last six years be disinterred from their graves in a little country cemetery near Valparaiso and examined for traces of possible poisoning were made to Lake county, Indiana, authorities today by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Coroner Oscar Wolff.

The recommendation followed questioning of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 47, the widow and mother, when it was learned that her only surviving son, David, reported dying in a Chicago hospital, was suffering from arsenic poisoning.

Young David is practically paralyzed from the effects of the poison. Relatives of the family told of circumstances and actions of the mother which led authorities to believe a wholesale murder plot had been revealed.

Mrs. Cunningham of Gary, Ind., was taken into technical custody shortly before noon here today and hurried to the state's attorney's office for questioning in connection with the mysterious deaths of her husband, three sons and a daughter in the last six years and the poisoning with arsenic of another son, David, jr., now fighting for his life in a Chicago hospital.

Suspicions Aroused

She was ordered taken into custody when investigation by Gary authorities and Coroner Oscar Wolff's office revealed that the deaths of her husband and children occurred after brief illnesses of not more than two weeks.

All the members of the family had been insured, it was asserted, in amounts ranging from $2,000 to $3,000.

It also was noted on the hospital records where the last remaining son, David, 24, lay battling against death, a physician's comment that the mother "shows signs of mental derangement."

Police also were seeking as a witness the only other living child of the family, May, 17.

FAVOR MISS KERN FOR CITY OFFICE

Receives Endorsement From Many In Race For Job As Treasurer

Basing her campaign for election to the office of city treasurer on a platform of honest, efficiency and courtesy, Miss Ruth Kern has won to her standard a large number of active supporters who predict for her that she will have the largest number of votes when the ballots are counted.

For the past four years she has been deputy treasurer under J. C. Sherer, who has declared "The position is of growing importance and I should not recommend Miss Kern if I did not believe she is big enough for the office."

Miss Kern has proven her ability to do the work of the treasurer's office in a most efficient manner, Miss Myrtle Baldwin, 223 West Doran street, one of her active supporters, asserted today.

Many Endorsements

"Her large experience in the office during the period of Glendale's greatest growth makes her invaluable to the city," Miss Baldwin said. "She has a highly pleasing personality that makes it a pleasure for any one who has business to conduct with the city. Her faithfulness to any cause that she undertakes is well known, and her honesty and integrity are above reproach."

Miss Kern has also received the endorsement of numerous others, including C. D. Thom, Judge Hartley Shaw, Dwight Stephenson, C. A. Rudel, tax expert; Charles B. Guthrie, L. G. Scovern, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, Dr. H. G. Westphal, L. H. Wilson, Rev. Clifford A. Cole and Dr. Jessie A. Russell.

REPUBLICAN CLUB WOMEN TO MEET

Party Form Of Government To Be Discussed Monday By Attorney

Development of party form of government will be discussed Monday afternoon at the meeting of the Republican Women's Study club at Central Christian church by H. D. Redwine, Los Angeles attorney. Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, president, announces the meeting for 2 o'clock, and states that all Glendale women are invited. Musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Frank Arnold, vocalist, and Mrs. Alice Ripley, pianist.

Mrs. Richardson states that, owing to the fact that many local Republican women were unable to attend the first meeting, the charter of the club will remain open until after the Monday meeting. She also states that if the fourth Monday is found to suit more members the meeting time will be changed. There will be a session of the executive board and chairmen of committees at 1 o'clock.

THOUSANDS EXPECTED TO WORSHIP AT SUNRISE

INCOME TAX REFLECTS BIG INCREASE

Southland Files Returns In Excess Of Any Previous Year, Is Claim

More income tax returns were filed in Southern California during the filing period, which ended March 15, than for any other year in the history of the internal revenue district.

Collector Rex. B. Goodcell today announced that completion of the count of returns showed that 274,704 returns were filed, an actual increase of 2157 returns over the number filed in 1924.

For comparative purposes, however, the increase was approximately 45,000. In 1924 filing of returns was required from married persons whose net incomes were $2000 or more, while in 1925 a married person had to have a net income of $2500 before he was required to file. This $500 increase in the leeway given taxpayers permitted more than 40,000 persons who would have been required to file returns in 1924 to escape both filing and payment of tax in 1925. Therefore, placing 1924 and 1925 on the same filing basis, the increase in the number of returns filed this year would be 45,000, Collector Goodcell said.

Prosperity Reflected

Reflecting unusual business conditions in Southern California, the number of full-paid returns filed this year was 122,031, as against 78,705 in 1924, an increase of 43,326 full-paid returns.

Last year 117,039 no-tax return, which are returns of incomes too small to be taxable, were filed, while in 1925 only 107,534 returns of this class were filed, a decrease of 9505. This indicates an increased income-producing power.

Personal returns were filed by 8124 persons with gross incomes of more than $25,000, and 85,305 with gross incomes less than $25,000, while 154,596 persons reported net incomes of $5000 or less. Partnership returns were 10,540.

Increase Noted

The number of corporation returns filed was 8669, as against 7233 in 1924. More full-paid corporation returns were filed than last year.

BAZAAR OPENS AS WAFFLES ARE BAKED

Dr. T. C. Young Kept Busy at Oakmont Country Club Filling Orders

Waffles galore were baked at Oakmont Country club last night by Dr. T. C. Young to fill the many orders from the crowds of club members and friends who packed the clubhouse for the opening night of the big carnival-bazaar to raise funds for the club's swimming pool.

Never has the club hospitality been enjoyed by such a large company of guests, the bazaar being open to the public. Those who were unable to attend yesterday afternoon or last night will have an opportunity tonight to participate in the brilliant events of the grand finale, featured by the awarding of a Buick automobile, a lot in Frazier Mountain park and many other grand prizes.

Children Matinee

Mrs. Max Lynn Green, general chairman, expressed gratification today at the success of last night. While she conceded that Dr. Young's "awful waffles" were most popular, she declared that running him a close second was the fishpond, heading a list of other attractions that filled the evening with riotous pleasure.

This afternoon the children were special guests. Added features have been planned for tonight, Detective Nick Harris being scheduled to relate a "Jimmy, the Rat" adventure at 8 o'clock. Radio fans who have an airy acquaintance with Mr. Harris, and others who know him personally will have opportunity to hear him tell one of his thrilling stories and meet him. In completing plans for tonight, Mrs. Green places special emphasis on the invitation to the public to join with club members in festivities.

HOSPITAL PATIENT

Mrs. H. D. Beal of 116 West Los Feliz road was operated upon last night at the Glendale Research hospital.

Glendale Police Unite Long Separated Mates

A family was reunited yesterday through the efforts of the Glendale police department.

O. L. Dorsey, civil engineer, has been employed in the vicinity of La Canada for the past five months. Believing he was still there his wife and daughter wired from Omaha that they were coming to see him.

But Dorsey had moved his operations to Sycamore canyon, and the wire never reached him. Yesterday morning Mrs. Dorsey and her daughter arrived in Los Angeles. There was no one to meet them, and finally they were taken in charge by the Travelers' Aid society, who communicated with Lieutenant Royle of the local force.

Royle won effusive thanks from both Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey when he found the engineer in Sycamore canyon and reunited the family in Los Angeles.

The socialist governor of Tasmania is Sir James O'Grady.

EASTER SERVICES ON MOUNT FOREST LAWN

Program Under Auspices of Glendale Churches and Community Service To Start at 5:20 o'Clock

Thousands of San Fernando valley people will observe the Eastertide by attending sunrise services under the auspices of Glendale churches and Community Service at the foot of the Tower of Legends, Mount Forest Lawn, tomorrow moning at 5:20 o'clock.

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, will deliver the early morning Easter message. "God of the Open Air," dramatic Easter poem, by Van Dkye, will be given as a special feature of the program by Frederick Warde, noted Shakespearean actor. Churches of Glendale and vicinity will join with Glendale Community Service in the Easter service, the most elaborate ever planned in this city.

At 3:45 o'clock trumpeters will ride through the streets of the city sounding reveille. Men from the Glendale Drum and Bugle corps under K. F. Butler and Boy Scouts from Troop 1 will comprise three reveille contingents.

Gates Open 4 a. m.

Gates at Forest Lawn Memorial park will be thrown open at 4 o'clock. Only the main gate entering from Glendale avenue at San Fernando road will be available for use. A heavy cordon of motorcycle and foot police, assisted by Boy Scouts and employes of the Memorial park, will direct traffic to Mount Forest Lawn, where the services will take place. Pedestrians will enter the grounds through the main gate at Glendale avenue and San Fernando road also, but will be permitted to follow easy footpaths to the top of the hill once inside the park.

Special Pacific Electric cars will be in operation from Los Angeles and Burbank, arriving at Forest Lawn at 5 o'clock, giving an extra fifteen minutes to get to the top of the hill. Cars of the Glendale-Montrose railway will meet yellow cars at Glendale Junction and will be in operation from La Crescenta, Montrose and Eagle Rock.

Seats Provided

At the foot of the Tower of Legends, where the services will take place, seats will be provided for more than 2000 persons. Accommodations for parking several thousand automobiles at the hilltop will also be available. Traffic regulations will be strictly enforced by police officers, who made a final inspection of roads and parking facilities under Chief John D. Fraser yesterday afternoon.

This morning Chief Fraser issued orders to all motorists to keep moving until they reached the top of the hill. He will forbid all parking along the road leading to the top. Automobiles arriving after the services have started will be forced to stop at the bottom of the hill and their occupants will have to walk to Mount Forest Lawn on foot, he said. The chief cautioned motorists to fill their gasoline tanks before attempting to make the hill.

The Easter service will be opened by a cornet solo, "The Holy City," by L. E. Wilbur, accompanied by the Glendale Municipal Symphony orchestra. "Unfold Ye Portals" will be rendered by the Glendale Choral club, assisted by choirs of Glendale district churches. Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver the invocation.

Easter Message

Following the invocation, Rev. Brougher will give his Easter message. This will be followed by a tenor solo, "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," by Harold Proctor, Los Angeles artist, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb.

Reading of "God of the Open Air" by Mr. Warde will be followed by doxology by the joint choir and the congregation. Benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Visiting Masons Rush Application For Lodge

The plans for the formation of a new Masonic lodge in Glendale are taking shape fast, and Colonel A. M. Dewey, who has been conducting negotiations with the grand lodge officers of California Masons, has received advice and encouragement that warrants the calling of a meeting to take final action preparatory to making application for a dispensation preliminary to getting a charter at the next grand lodge meeting in San Francisco in October. Letter from Grand Secretary John Whicher says: "Brother Dewey, get busy and let us have your petition for dispensation by the first of July, which will then give you time to do work and get your charter in October."

Acting on this advice, Colonel Dewey has issued a letter to the forty-three Masons who have already signed petition for a charter or dispensation, and has addressed this letter to 356 other sojourning Masons living in Glendale who do not belong to any local lodge, and they are all invited to meet in the lower hall of the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. There are more than this number of Masons available in this locality, but their addresses could not be secured in time. All such are invited to attend this meeting, however, and Colonel Dewey hopes the hall will be filled. The letter is signed by Colonel Dewey as chairman of the meetings already held, and by Aubrey Artiss, a registered accountant living at 1145 Melrose avenue, Glendale, as secretary.

EASTER HOPE

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast," someone has said. Hope is the emotion that makes life livable after all else is gone. A man may find himself deserted by his friends and loved ones, his wealth vanished, his position gone, but as long as he can keep alive that little spark of hope, no matter how feeble, he can live. When hope flickers and dies out, a suicide's grave is his only retreat, for life holds nothing without hope.

That is the reason Easter is the happiest day in the religious calendar and the most joyful season of all the year, even for those who do not embrace Christianity. Easter is the time of hope. Even here in California, where the difference in the seasons is not marked, there is a resurrection, a renewal of nature and a promise of the harvest expressed in bud and flower and leaf.

To Christians, no other festival of the year means so much. Take away the resurrection and there would be nothing left. The birth, the teachings, the suffering and death of Christ would all have been futile without the promise of Easter morning. Nature springing to new life is but a symbol of the true resurrection, the assurance that man is not doomed to eternal death.

Easter brings joy to millions of souls. The Easter theme, "He is risen," calls forth a response from more hearts than any other message that men or angels ever sang. Immortality of the soul is an almost universal belief and the justification for this hope is found in the story of the risen Christ and in the renewal of nature in the springtime.

One of the happiest customs ever established is that of holding outdoor sunrise services on Easter. It is so fitting to greet the sunrise from the hilltops on Easter morning, and thousands who attend these services for the novelty of it go away thrilled with the beauty and hope of the Easter message. Millions of souls this Easter morning will again greet the rising sun as an emblem of the resurrection and with their hosannas testify to the hope and faith that is in them. "Christ is risen" is the theme that brings peace and joy and hope.

RESPONSIBILITY OF VOTERS

The outlook for Glendale's future is most auspicious. The city is growing steadily and consistently. There is nothing of the nature of a boom connected with our growth and there is no reason to believe that Glendale will not continue to develop in every way and continue to require the services of able, far-seeing men in the management of her affairs.

Th men who will be elected Tuesday to head our city government will not find that a bed of roses has been prepared for them. They have real work before them and they will be denounced and condemned by certain persons and factions, no matter how well and conscientiously they perform their duties. To be sure, there is some honor in being at the head of government of a city like Glendale, but many think this is more than offset by the responsibilities that must be assumed and the reproaches that must be endured, for city officials are considered legitimate targets for criticism.

We believe all the men who are candidates for the City Council have a deep realization that the honors and emoluments accruing from the office they seek deserve the least of their consideration. We believe they are fired with patriotic zeal, that their desire is for public service. They are good and conscientious men, deserving of recognition and honor. But they cannot all be elected, and it rests with the people to select those who will be most able. We are none of us infallible—voters or candidates. We are prone to make mistakes. Our conscientious best is all that is expected of us.

This is the twentieth century, in the greatest and most enlightened nation in the world, where the franchise is universal. You are an average citizen. Your judgment is as good as anybody's and deserves the same consideration. The lives of the candidates have been open books for weeks. No one has a monopoly on the means of getting information as to their qualifications. The candidates, their friends and their enemies are all anxious to instruct you as to their capability or lack of it. Use your own brain and conscience, and vote.

WHERE IS ROMANCE?

Human nature craves romance. The young girl, so it is said, has visions that have to do with the coming of a prince. The boy dreams of riding with the crusaders of old, or sails the seven seas, or subdues the beasts in jungle. Workaday people the world over get their romance vicariously through storybooks and plays. Romance is something we see afar, something we rarely recognize when it comes close to us. There may be romance next door, yet we look for it at a distance.

There is real, vital, human interest in the life of many a man or woman who has come up from poverty and made a success of life in some line of endeavor. The life of Alexander P. Moore, American ambassador to Spain, reads like a fairy story. A poor Pittsburgh newsboy became the husband of the beautiful Lillian Russell, the friend of presidents and kings.

And yet, when friends of Mr. Moore in New York wished to do honor to him the other day they held a gypsy ball. Four hundred pine trees were brought from Maine to give a picturesque and realistic touch to the background which included a campfire and moonlight effects. They simulated the romantic. The life of the man they honored embraced more romance than all the gypsy camps in the world. Yet that was forgotten. They were too close to the man's success to appreciate how he had won it.

SANITY TEST

Certainly there is nothing of humor in the situation of the little San Francisco girl who is being tried on a charge of matricide, but some of those in the court room must have smiled at the testimony of a certain physician who is trying to prove the prisoner insane. Newspaper reports of the trial say that Dr. Clark gave it as his opinion that the girl is insane. He says she replied to a question as to her sanity with the words, "Certainly I am sane." Immediately following this statement defense counsel brought out from Dr. Clark that definitely insane persons always believe themselves sane.

If you are questioned as to your sanity, dear reader, better confess to being a lunatic. Otherwise it will be unquestionably established that you are a candidate for what is known in certain circles as the bug-house.

All work and no play gets Jack in shape to pay the alimony.

THE GERMAN GEORGE WASHINGTON

Easter

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The general idea which underlies Easter is the idea expressed by Longfellow, that we can all rise by stepping upon our dead selves to higher things.

The most wonderful thing in this world is not death, but the rising from the dead. Spring is a continual miracle and symbolizes for us that success which can mount up from failure.

There are many failures amongst us; in fact, more failures than successes. Thousands of people who read this are failures. That is what makes them interested in it.

Most of us are heirs to failure. What little success we have had has been wrung from failure.

Failure properly conceived is but the manure of success. With it grows success. It befell us in order that we might succeed.

As winter contains the seeds of the future summer wrapped away in its bosom, so our failures contain within themselves the seeds of greater success.

Those who are blind or crippled or otherwise unfortunate have realized this. They have demonstrated that there is no failure except in the human spirit. As long as we have courage left and a gun to be fired we should not speak of giving up.

Viewed in this light sickness is more of an opportunity than it is a disaster.

Someone has said that an optimist is one who sees opportunity in every disaster and a pessimist is one who sees disaster in every opportunity.

A young actress named Betty Benfield came to New York seeking a job, but she never learned how to lose. She attempted to take her own life after she had been walking the streets for two years. She had mistaken temporary for permanent failure. One ought to have resources enough so that if he fails in one direction he can succeed in another.

Easter means that eternal hope, that springs from the human breast. It means that no matter how bloody our head may be and how often we may be knocked down, we are still undaunted and unafraid.

In the history of most successful men, if it were truthfully told, there are many failures. Mr. J. P. Morgan when he died left a number of worthless stocks in which he had invested. At one time or another we all make mistakes. The question is, what are we to do with them? Are we to allow them to become incubi upon the spirit, or are we to learn from them those lessons which guide us into future success?

No man should give up. The realization of his dreams lies just around the corner. It is only those who go on who eventually succeed.

The essential characteristic of the human being is that he always finds opportunity in defeat. Or he may find it if he has the proper spirit.

The most remarkable thing about the past is not its crumbling monuments of stone, for these decay in time. The most remarkable thing is the continuation of life.

The works of man disappear, but man himself continually reappears.

Life seems to hang upon an uncertain thread, but it is firmer and more secure than anything that it accomplishes.

Horoscope

After the early hours of this day good fortune should rule, according to astrology. Jupiter, Uranus and Mercury are all in benefic aspect.

It might be well for speculators on the stock markets to sell up to noon, but they may expect sudden fluctuations in the later days of the month.

This is an auspicious sway under which to push all business matters and should be especially good for manufacturers.

All the signs appear to indicate a great increase in certain exports and unexpected activity in various lines of merchandise.

Newspapers today are subject to a direction of the stars that indicates cable dispatches of supreme importance.

In Washington government problems may cause excitement before vacation time, it is forecast.

Women should be especially careful of their health at this time when Uranus is in a place supposed to indicate many deaths among distinguished actresses and authors.

Statesmen are reminded that when Mars in Leo meets Mercury and Venus in square to Saturn next July there is likely to be great excitement in France and Italy.

Earthquake shocks in Italy will disturb next summer's tourists, it is prognosticated.

Religious disputes will come much into public knowledge as summer approaches, it is predicted. Many new cults will find followers.

London is to suffer severely from fires within the next few weeks and the sinister planetary influences probably will affect the United States.

Newspapers and magazines are to gain greatly in influence as the year advances. New periodicals will appear to advocate startling new ideas, it is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a few reverses in the coming year and they should avoid possible difficulties. They must not speculate or risk money.

Children born on this day have the forecast of great success all through life. These subjects of Aries may be too free with their money for their own good.

Today's Poem

WE HAVE BEEN FRIENDS TOGETHER

We have been friends together
In sunshine and in shade,
Since first beneath the chestnut-tree,
In infancy we played,
But coldness dwells within thy heart,
A cloud is on thy brow;
We have been friends together,
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been gay together;
We have laughed at little jests;
For the fount of hope was gushing
Warm and joyous at our breasts.
But laughter now hath fled thy lip,
And sullen glooms thy brow;
We have been gay together,
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been sad together;
We have wept with bitter tears
O'er the grass-grown grave where slumbered
The hopes of early years.
The voices which were silent then
Would bid thee clear thy brow;
We have been sad together,
Shall a light word part us now?

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

Three cheers for Joseph E. Gilbert! Builder of several of the world's tallest skyscrapers, and a successful man by all the popular canons, he nevertheless proclaims success a matter of luck.

"A successful man is an accident. The only element a successful man can credit himself with is concentration. This success stuff you read about in the magazines is a lot of bunk. I read about these fellows getting up early and staying late and never missing a day of work.

"Well, I doubt it."

* * *

A few days ago, in this place, we retold the story of the man who won the $5,000 prize offered by an association of grocers in a European city to the assistant who passed the best examination. This man seemed to know everything there was to know about the grocery business. But when he used his prize money to open a business of his own he failed completely.

Success IS a matter of what is known as luck, as Mr. Gilbert aptly says. BUT few men ever are LUCKY ENOUGH to be successful unless they possess certain qualities. One of them, perhaps the principal one, is mentioned by Mr. Gilbert. It is concentration.

* * *

Definitions of success are futile unless it is clear what constitutes success. And, after all, what is this thing success?

In America particularly, it is taken to mean money and social position; a Rolls Royce, a full cellar and an invitation to Mrs. Reginald Umpty-Umps' ball. If this is success, then there are many things much more to be desired.

* * *

But, whatever success is, you can be certain there is no known, well-charted road to it. Achieving it is not a matter of early to bed and early to rise;

Or of toiling twenty hours a day;

Or of reading the "success magazines" assiduously;

Or of taking correspondence courses in traffic engineering, business English and peanut culture;

Or of doing twice as much as the boss expects you to do;

Or of not watching the clock;

Or of never telling a lie;

Or of saving your money.

* * *

Forget "success," and try to be happy.

Timely Views

Another world war, possibly within ten years, with United States and Great Britain as allies against Germany, Japan and other nations, was predicted recently by Sir Charles Higham, British advertising expert, in a speech in New York.

The way to prevent "this next great war," in the opinion of Sir Charles, or at least the way to defer the date on which it may occur, is for the two English speaking nations to build up their air defenses to show warlike nations that they "are not going to have any nonsense about it."

He declared that "in the minds of those who made public opinion" in Germany, Japan, Russia and China a plan has been formed "for the yellow races to make an aerial attack on the Panama Canal and California and land in Mexico after having got rid of the United defenses." Simultaneously, he said, Germany will attack France. Canada and Australia will have all they can do to look after themselves, and England will be handicapped in going to France's aid.

"It may be the last war, but you can't tell that," he said. "It will come in less than 20 years and most likely in ten. The reason there will be another war is manifold. The Japanese want power and great dominions. The Germans have had the same idea instilled in them for generations. The United States' prosperity and unlimited resources for wealth make her a tempting morsel for the warlike nations of the world. She is really a more tempting country to capture than any other on the face of the map. Her very isolation makes her danger greater because she is not likely to concern herself about it, as those do who are nearer to the warlike nations of the world. She has really only one great ally and friend—the British empire. My country and yours are the only two nations in the world which, in my judgment, are not aggressively keen on war. These two countries will never war against each other—of that I am absolutely certain."

As to the United States and Great Britain convincing other nations of their air power, Sir Charles said:

"They are in no condition to make that announcement today. Aerially the United States of America and the British empire are very weak in comparison to France. The next war will be fought largely in the air, and if the United States and the British empire are ready to meet any aerial warfare that may occur, the other nations will hesitate before striking a blow."

STATE BOOSTS CONVENTION SPECIAL

All-California Train Hoped For When Delegates Leave For Meet

Forty-three real estate boards of California, through their state directors at the quarterly meeting of the California Real Estate association in San Diego, endorsed the All California All Western Train itinerary submitted by their state vice-president, St. George Holden of San Francisco. The special will leave for Detroit convention of the National association of Real Estate Boards as follows:

Leave Los Angeles at 7:45 p. m., by way of San Francisco, Oakland, Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha and Chicago, arriving at Detroit on June 22, the convention opening the next morning.

Returning the delegates will stop at Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and traverse the Canadian Northwest, arriving in the states by way of Seattle, where they will spend the 4th of July. The return to San Francisco is on July 7. An eighteen-day trip, Vice-president Holden declared, for which the fare and berth round trip will approximate $190 per person.

Already it is known delegates will be on the train from San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Glendale, Lodi, San Jose, Monterey, Pasadena, Los Angeles, San Diego, Long Beach, Huntington Park, Alhambra, and other cities throughout the state.

"We desire to have a train made up of realty boards from all over the west," Chairman Holden declared. "The stopovers will be conveniently arranged. We will have for our entertainment the San Francisco Real Estate Board Glee club of fifteen voices. The entire west has been invited to join us, and I am sure that large delegations will arrive at Salt Lake City, Denver and Omaha, and other principal points.

"Every real estate board on the coast and particularly in California is invited to be on the train."

EDITORIAL

Encourage Home-Building

When builders and realty men encourage homebuilding they are working for their own interests, of course. But at the same time they are public benefactors, as is the man who builds a home. Homes are the backbone of the city as well as the bulwarks of the nation, and each new home becomes a community asset in more ways than one.

First of all, it is something tangible, something to show the visitor. Then it adds to the wealth of the city, according to the money invested. And it makes for better citizenship, because the people who build their own homes have a greater interest in the community by reason of having invested their money in the city and by having given their time and thought to making their home the best, the most beautiful and the most convenient that circumstances allow. The family that builds a home necessarily puts into it so much of themselves that the community in which it is built seems to belong to them in a double sense.

People do not very often build homes in a city in which they do not have faith. A new home not only testifies to the pride of the owner in the community, but strengthens his interest in the communtiy. It implies permanence and stability.

At least a hundred homes are being built in Glendale now, and more are being contemplated for the near future. Each one of these homes adds to Glendale in the way of wealth, importance and good citizenship.

HOMESEEKERS RAIL RATES ADVISED

National Realty Board Asks That Five-Party Fares Apply To State

The California Real Estate association, whose board of directors and district conferences have adopted stirring resolutions for the granting to California of the five-party homeseeker rates for colonists has been advised by Secretary Herbert U. Nelson that the National association of Real Estate boards also has formally requested the Western Passenger association to grant these homeseekers rates to points in California. The starting places would be Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City gateways.

The rate is asked on the five-pary ticket basis. Such a rate has been put into effect annually to points elsewhere in western states.

The association has received the support of civic organizations and business associations in California and other states in this matter.

MEAT TRADE BAD

CHICAGO, April 11.—The packers say: "There seems to be no desire on the part of consuming public for work of any kind and despite the small amount available, surpluses have accumulated. Beef trade has felt just about the same influences as has the pork trade. There is no strength whatever in the demand for beef."

REALTORS GET CHANCE AT AD WORK

Inter-City Contest To Decide Best Newspaper Copy At National Meet

A national inter-city contest in real estate newspaper advertising will be a feature of the annual convention of the National association of real estate boards to be held at Detroit, Mich., June 23-26.

The contest has two phases. One award will be made to the city whose real estate board presents the best advertising of an institutional character published since June 1, 1924 over the board's own signature. Such advertising is being carried on by a number of real estate boards to bring to public attention the advantages of their individual communities as places to live and as places for real estate investments, and to explain the advantage to the investor in real estate of dealing with a man entitled to the designation realtor. The second award will be made to the city whose real estate board presents the best examples of advertising by individual firms among its members.

What You May Want to Know About Building

Questions addressed to this paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the Department of Commerce, United States Government. Inclose self addressed envelope for reply.

Q—What is meant by a beam fill?

A—This is incombustible material laid between the floor beams where they bear on walls so as to prevent the passage of fire through the walls from lower parts of the house to the upper parts; also so as to make the house warmer.

Q—What is the best thing to do with an old cesspool that fills quickly after a rain?

A—It may be that this cesspool has served its purpose, and you will have to build a new one. Possibly you could divert the storm water to a separate sink basin.

Q—From advertising, I see that brass piping for water pipes is recommended. Is there danger of copper being dissolved from the brass, causing copper poisoning?

A—The amount of brass piping used in an ordinary house is small. In fact, only that part which is nickel plated is brass. Hence the amount of poisonous matter, if any, that could be dissolved from the brass is negligible. Assuming that some copper might be dissolved out of the brass, it would be wasted on the first outflow of water from the faucet.

Q—Our present home is a story and a half type. The lower part is brick veneer and the upper part shingles. I am thinking of applying stucco over the shingles. Will this look well and be permanent? What color do you advise?

A—It will probably be better to remove the shingles and nail self-furred metal lath to the sheathing. If necessary to bring the plane of the stucco out, the sheathing can be stripped with wood and the lath nailed to the strips. The appearance will be satisfactory. Color the stucco to harmonize with the brickwork.

Q—A speculative builder told me the other day that a "practical house" costs less than an "architectural house." Is this true. If so, why cannot an architectural house be practical?

A—There is a misuse of terms here. True architecture is essentially practical. A real architectural house is one that has a commodious plan, substantial construction, and beauty of proportion. It would be more correct to distinguish between houses as "architectural" or "impractical." Adding ornamentation will of course increase expense, but the absence or presence of ornamentation is not essential to true architecture. The socailed "practical" houses are often poorly designed as to plan and section and poorly built. The construction may be cheap at the beginning but the final cost is high.

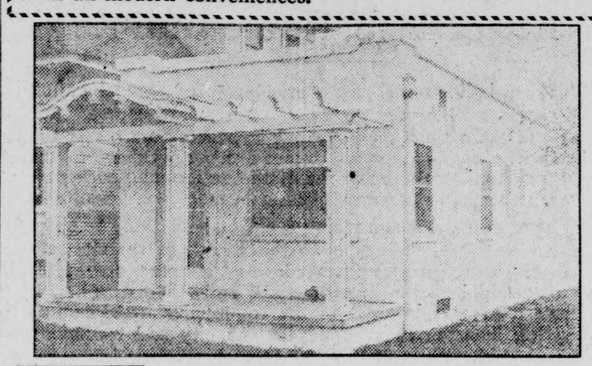
Building Concern Is Marketing Products

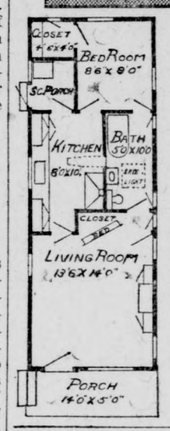
C. W. Murney and T. W. Hannegan are the members of the firm of the Shamrock Building Supply Co., 411 West Los Feliz road, Glendale. This establishment has been in business nearly six months and report a fine growth of business.

The policy of the Shamrock Building Supply Co. is to obtain volume business by placing the price of their merchandise as consistently low as possible, and they find that this policy is really producing business. They handle building materials of all kinds besides manufacturing a high-grade of white flat paint which they are placing on the market under their own label.

3-Room Stucco Residence

An inexpensive home for the family of moderate means—with all modern conveniences.





This house was designed for a narrow portion of a lot but 18 feet wide. By putting a ventilated skylight, or window opening into a vent shaft, of the required size, for the bathroom, one may build the house up to the lot line.

A great many are of the opinion that a house cannot have in it windows nearer than four feet of the property line. The State Dwelling House Act of 1917, Sections 14 and 15, requires all rooms used for living or sleeping purposes, and kitchens, to have a window area equal to one-eighth of the floor area, placed so as to light all portions of the room, and to open directly upon a street, or on an unoccupied area of the same lot, not less than four feet in its least dimension, and to contain not less than 36 square feet. When this has been complied with one can place as many windows in the room as they desire, even though they are on the lot line.

This three-room house can be built for $2200.00.

Must Study Kitchen In Planning of House

Makers of a well-known labor-saving device wanted to find out why women desire and buy such things as electric washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric dishwashers and other appliances. A generous prize was offered for the best answer. Two thousand women replied.

The largest percentage of answers indicated that women wanted labor-saving devices not alone for the labor they saved, but because of the time saving which these appliances permitted—time which could be profitably used for other things—social enjoyment, recreation, study clubs, politics, etc.

Authorities have estimated that 76 per cent of the average housekeeper's day is spent in and about the kitchen. That's a lot of time. Considering, if you do your own housework, that one-third of your life is spent in sleep and 70 per cent of the remaining two-thirds is given to cooking, fussing and cleaning up around the kitchen, it's easy to see why kitchens and bedrooms are important in home planning.

Nothing speeds up housework more, gives you greater freedom, saves labor, steps and lessens fatigue, than a well-planned, adequately-lighted and ventilated small kitchen.

Every housekeeper loves a bright, sunny, cheerful kitchen. She deserves this kind of kitchen. But she also needs one that minimizes every motion, every step. Therefore, in home-planning, the study of kitchen arrangement from a health, happiness and labor saving point of view not only is essential, but is of far more importance than many home-builders give to it.

The old notion that a kitchen had to be luxuriously large is passing. A small, compact, kitchen, well ventilated, with abundant light where steps are "routed" and tools grouped, makes kitchen work not only less fatiguing, but promotes health and happiness.

The breakfast or dining alcove, which in so many home plans is either a part of the kitchen or opens directly from it, is a modern device which assists greatly in lessening labor as well as steps.

Time saving is the modern idea in kitchen planning. Saving time means saving labor. Probably no one feature of the oldfashioned kitchen caused the housekeeper to take so many extra steps as the separate, detached pantry.

For example, in baking a cake, hundreds of needless steps were taken to get the mixing bowl, flour, sugar, butter, eggs and baking pans from the pantry. After the cake was baked, it meant crossing and recrossing the kitchen many times to put the tools and food away.

One experiment proved that a housekeeper, in a poorly arranged kitchen, walked 105 needless miles each year while preparing three meals a day. It is almost impossible to plan a socalled "model kitchen," adaptable to every home. Every housekeeper must work out a plan according to the size and needs of her family. Yet there are certain well established things that can be suggested that will help lighten kitchen work, save steps, labor and time.

PLANT FLOWERS AND SHRUBS NOW

Nature Is An Avalanche Of Color This Season Of the Year

By E. WATERHOUSE
Landscape Gardener With Brand Boulevard Nursery

The recent rainfall has added its bit to the starting up of food and energy in the plant kingdom until now, with the help of a few warm days, our early gardens will be a mass of color.

Among the bulbous plants, the crocus and hyacinth are beginning to delight the eye and those who have planted tulips will soon be enjoying the brilliance of their rare colorings. The calendula, often called the marigold, is a never-failing garden favorite. It grows like a weed but produces a succession of yellow and orange bloom.

Many different colors of iris, or fleur-de-lis, are now blooming. It might be well to note the shades besides white and purple which it is possible to obtain. There are orchid shades, blue, lavender, bronze and violet. The petunia is prolific at this time and seems to want to outdo all of its neighbors. The rather strong magenta color which crops out in petunia seed can be offset by planting some of white color with them.

It would not be right to forget the cool white purity of the Easter lily at this time. Although it is primarily a flower for the house and spends itself in one brief period of bloom, yet we always look for it at this time of the year and would feel a loss without it.

The roses have started and your nursery man can show you blooms of the choicest roses such as the Golden Emblem, Los Angeles, and Madame L. C. Breslan. The Breslan is most striking at this time with its coppery orange shadings. Those of you who have not one of the Souvenir de Clandnis Pernet in your collection will do well to plant one now. It is one of the deepest, purest yellows and is entirely unique. Other dependable roses are: Mrs. Charles Russell, deep rosy carmine; Hoosier beauty, velvety red; Caroline Testout, pink, and Madame Edward Herriot, coral red.

Now is the best time to plant Delphiniums, Gladioli, Dahlias, Snapdragons, Penstemon, Sweet Williams, Gaillardias, Scabiosa, carnations, painted daisies and other bedding plants. Put them in now and later showers and warm weather will help to give you a garden of color.

Trade Is Brisk In Stencil Sets

The Jewel City Paint Co., 216 East Broadway, is showing in their display windows various home decorating stencil sets. They are made especially for the home and may be used for decorating the walls or cloth or woodwork. This is the time of the year when home dwellers' thoughts rove towards brightening things up and these inexpensive sets are manufactured expressly with this idea in mind. Mr. E. H. Hahn, manager of the paint company, states that he is getting a good many calls for these stencil outfits.

Wallpaper season is now on, according to Mr. Hahn, and every day sees many people shopping around for the new designs of wallpaper. The new spring designs are now in and the selection at this store is unusually good, says Mr. Hahn.

The Pittsburgh Proof products, paints and varnishes, are sold exclusively by the Jewel City Paint Co.

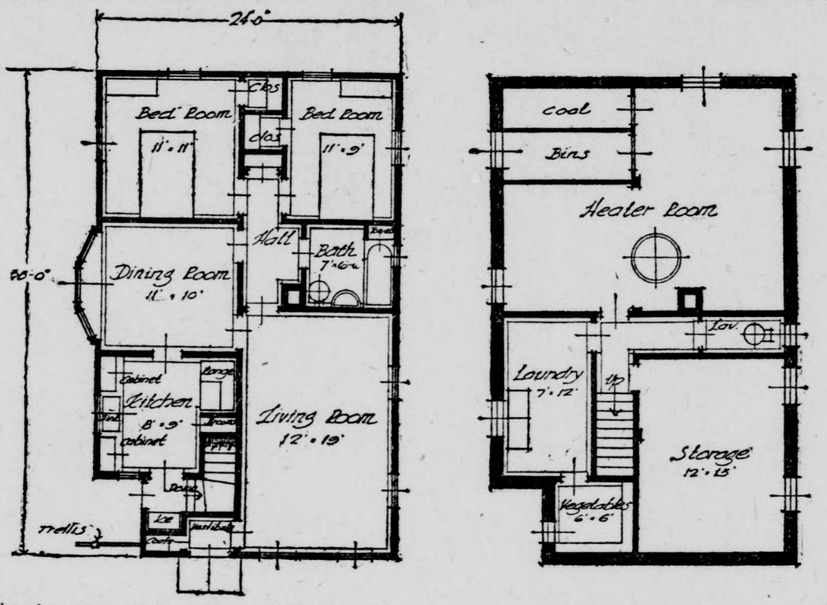
5-Room Bungalow; Colonial Design

Copyright, 1925—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 5D33.



The plan presented here, design 5-D-33, was awarded an honorable mention by the jury in a recent competition for a five-room bungalow. The charm and simplicity of the exterior of this small bungalow are easily seen in the architect's drawing above.

The rectangular shape of the floor plan permits of a simple and direct roof treatment, without hips and valley, resulting in economy of construction and a low skyline. This low skyline aids materially in creating the satisfying impression of hominess and intimacy between the house and its setting. The color scheme suggested by the designer is weathered gray shingles with ivory trimmings for the side walls, olive green blinds, and varicolored roof. This color scheme would enhance this homelike impression, and would insure pleasing harmony between the house and its surroundings.

Rooms Well Proportioned

The living room is of good size and proportion. If a fireplace is desired in this room, it could be provided at the end adjacent to the furnace flue without much difficulty or additional expense. The dining room is conveniently located, with a deep bay window to make it sunny and cheerful. The two bedrooms occupy corner positions and thereby are able to have cross ventilation. Each has a large clothes closet.

The kitchen is in the front of the house and is lighted and aired from two sides. The entrance to both kitchen and basement is protected by a trellis, so that the coming and going of the butcher, baker and candle stick maker will be unnoticed.

Important Facts About Design

Materials used: Frame construction with wide wood siding or heavy shingles for exterior finish.

Width: 24 feet. Depth, 38 feet.

Facing: The house should be faced so as to take advantage of prevailing winds, sunny exposure and local views. The plan shown here can be reversed, if desired.

Editor's Note: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

Mr. Berryman says the plumbing fixture end of the business is showing a marked increase over last year.

". . . . Yesterday I computed what we paid for rent in our younger and careless years—$20,000. Today I shall ask for a stamp to send this letter. 10% of our income would have provided a home and John might have lived to share it."

This letter is not far fetched—there are thousands of similar examples all over the country. The answer is—put your "rent money" into a home of your own, and provide for a comfortable and independent old age. POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

R. BELCHER Gives Platform

R. BELCHER

R. Belcher, candidate for city councilman, announces his platform in the election of April 14:

"To the good voters of Glendale, I desire to pledge myself to do certain things. If elected to the council and I fail to use my efforts to carry out what I pledge myself to do I will expect my supporters to ask for my resignation, and if, at any time, I cannot carry out my intentions I shall resign.

"First: I will see that the council convenes promptly on time, that no secret sessions are held by the council and that all discussions are held openly and not behind closed doors.

"Second: All contracts will be let to the lowest bidder where the necessary bonds are given as security for the city.

"Third: The fire and police departments should be under civil service and all city employees should be given a hearing before permanently dismissed.

"Fourth: All improvements should be done at the request of the majority of the property owners that are to be assessed for the payment of the improvements.

"Fifth: In opening and widening of streets, the majority of property owners that are to be assessed for the improvements should rule as to width, kind of pavement and kind of lighting standards.

"Sixth: I am of the same opinion as Mr. Tower (also a candidate for councilman) that neither the water meters nor the installation of same should be charged for, as the water meters belong to the property owner in the first place.

"Seventh: I am in favor of reduction in the electric light rate, for which the city pays 1 cent per kilowatt hour and charges the taxpayer 14 cents per kilowatt.

I believe in Representation, not Exploitation of the taxpayer. In Submission, not dictation to the taxpayer. In economy instead of extravagance in the city affairs. I will strive to make Glendale the best governed city in the state instead of the worst, and at all times treat the civic problems in a rational, broad-minded spirit, instead of a narrow-minded and factional way. This is not an election promise but a conviction of yours sincerely,

ROSCOE BELCHER.

BUILDING LOANS TOTAL $200,000

Since New Year Glendale Borrowed That Much For Structural Work

Proof that building in Glendale has not shown a marked decrease, especially among dwellings, is furnished by Burton McGinnis, of 213 East Broadway, exclusive agent in this city for the Home-Builders' Loan association, of Pomona. Mr. McGinnis states that since January 1 he has loaned over $200,000 for this association in Glendale.

This amount, Mr. McGinnis said, has been used in financing fifty buildings and providing homes for forty-four families. The association paid out through the local banks $118,473.63, mostly for labor and material, and the amounts loaned by the association have been expended by the persons getting the money as local payrolls.

The association has thirty homes under construction in Glendale at the present time, Mr. McGinnis said, while many more are planned. The majority of the homes that have been financed by the association since the first of the year, he said, were occupied by the owners, or will be occupied by the owners when completed. Only a small number were built for speculation or income, he said.

OFFER HOMESITES IN BEAUTY TRACT

View Of Sierras, Verdugo Hills And Valley Make Place Attractive

Unusually attractive are the homesites in Crescenta Oaks tract, the "cream of La Crescenta," placed on the market by T. W. Watson Co., of 380 East Broadway, with the prices equally as attractive. The tract covers thirty oaks and is located on the gentle slope of the La Crescenta valley, between Honolulu and Michigan boulevards.

Magnificent oak trees grace the tract, adding beauty to the enhancing view of the Sierras, the Verdugo hills and the La Crescenta valley. The tract is three blocks from the end of the car line, and only a short distance to stores and school. Graded streets throughout the tract.

Permanent residences are restricted to cost not less than $2,000, while neat, painted structures costing not less than $800 may be put on the rear of the lot and occupied for not more than three years, according to Mr. Watson, head of the company.

HIGHWAYS OPENED TO ACACIA HILLS

Panorama Of Glendale And Surrounding Valley Is Seen From Roads

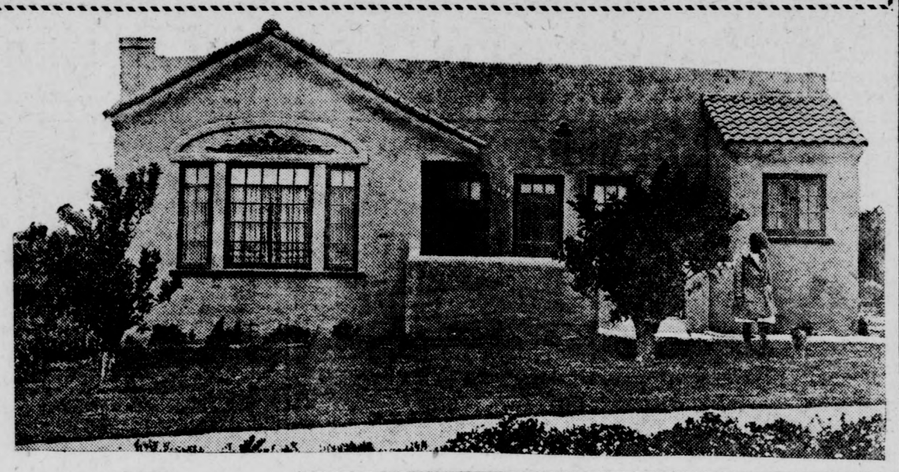
It is truly surprising how many residents of Glendale are unaware of the wonderful opportunity opened to them by the completion of the grading of the drives through Acacia hills, reached by motoring east on Palmer avenue or south on Chevy Chase drive.

It is possible to drive over these streets now in automobiles and from them enjoy a view of Glendale, the equal of which has never before been possible.

The panorama which spreads out to one's view is the best in the Southland. The cities of Glendale and Eagle Rock occupy the foreground of the picture, with every house and tree standing out in relief, while Griffith park, San Fernando valley, Burbank, Montrose and La Crescenta fill in the central portions of the picture, backed on all sides by the Hollywood and Verdugo hills and the Tehachapi and Sierra Madre mountains.

Building Program Is Assured

This picture shows a type of the less expensive homes being erected in Sparr Heights. A big building program seems assured through the announcement of the Barnum Building & Finance Co. that it is prepared to serve homeseekers.



A building boom of some magnitude is prophesied for Sparr Heights following the instantaneous response to the announcement last week of the liberal terms to be offered to homeseekers in this section of Glendale by the Barnum Building & Finance Co. According to H. E. Barnum, subdivider of Sparr Heights and manager of the new concern, a large number of replies have been received to the initial announcement of the company and a number of other people have called at the main office in the Community Center building on the property to inquire about the new building policies of the company.

One home in particular to cost in excess of $30,000 is to be constructed at once for Dr. Arthur Hook of Los Angeles. The ground plan has already been staked out on the lot selected by Dr. Hook in the Montecito park section of Sparr Heights. E. H. Hayes, architect for the new building company, is also working on a number of new plans for homes to be erected here in the near future.

Invited to Inquire

"Exceptional efforts are being made to serve all who inquire about Sparr Heights and the new building plan as expeditiously as possible," stated A. M. Morrison, manager of the down-town Glendale branch of the Barnum organization today. "We are prepared at our branch office at 200 East Broadway to give complete information to all who call and to arrange for a quick and easy trip to Sparr Heights which is only 10 minutes away. Our friends who are interested in building are cordially invited to telephone my branch at any time to arrange for a special trip to Sparr Heights without in any way putting themselves under any obligation to us as we are very proud of our property and like to show it to all."

Part of Glendale

The reasons which make it possible for the Barnum Co. to offer exceptional terms and low down payments on houses built to order in Sparr Heights are all connected with the fact that this section is no longer classed as a subdivision but has become rather an integral part of Glendale and is now completely equipped for much of its area with all city improvements, explained Mr. Barnum.

"The street work is completed, and much of the area and homes are springing up so rapidly that we feel that every cent we invest here in well-designed and carefully-built homes is safer than in any bank, and as a result we are prepared to build houses to the particular fancy of each family with the assurance that it is going to like them and stay permanently in Sparr Heights," he said. "Thus our investment as well as others is entirely safe, particularly in view of the fact that our prices are way below surrounding values so that an improved lot at once becomes worth much more than the actual amount invested for its purchase price, plus the construction costs under our building plan."

Banner Prize Offered for Best Design

A prize of $25 for the best design for a California Real Estate association banner, showing stars for the 100 boards in the organization, will be awarded by California Real Estate magazine, according to an announcement. Designs may be submitted by all who desire to participate in the contest, which will close on May 15, 1925.

The colors of the association are blue and gold, and the design must carry out the spirit of an all-California organization. Three judges will be appointed by State President Ainsley and Mrs. Hazel M. Grant of Pasadena, chairman of the state banner committee. Those desiring to participate should get in touch with the California Real Estate association, 117 West Ninth street, Los Angeles, for further information and all drawings should also be sent to that address.

The diamond industry, after a period of depression, is reviving.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mixed Marriages

"Dear Doctor: If a girl marries a man whose father's father was a negro and whose mother's parents were white, would she be running the risk of bringing other than white children into the world? Would you advise such a marriage, or should she try to transfer her love to some one else? —A."

Yes, there is a possibility that a child born of such a union might have negro characteristics. Eugenists (those who work for the betterment of the race) believe that mixed marriages are not conducive to race improvement, that the weaknesses rather than the strengths of the races are more apt to be inherited.

Fat In Spots

"Dear Doctor: My face is thin, compared to the rest of my body and I am afraid that by reducing, it will become thinner. What can I do to improve that —R."

Probably it will seem to get a little thinner with general reduction, but after you get down to normal, you can plump up five pounds or so. Often, enough goes to the face to round it out sufficiently.

Exercises and deep massage will help to reduce your body in a greater proportion. There are some glorified rolling pins on the market (you can get them in the department stores and some of the larger drugstores) which are excellent. You get a good message which can become deeper as you become used to it, and at the same time, you get some most stimulating exercise. There is one with an irregular surface that is especially good for fat in spots and generalized fat.

Gall Stones

Mr. G.—Yes, lack of exercise is one of the causes of gall stone formation. A disturbance of the gall due to improper diet is another cause, and infections another.

The exercises that are especially desirable to prevent gall stone formation are the movements which exercise the diaphragm (the membrane which stretches across the abdomen and separates the chest organs from the abdominal organs.)

Deep breathing exercises which cause the diaphragm to move up and down vigorously, the trunk exercises—the bending and twisting and the floor exercises—are those which also exercise the diaphragm and squeeze the liver.

Gall stones are more frequent in those overweight, verifying that a lack of exercise and overeating have a great deal to do with their formation.—Another reason why I pay so much attention to the overweighters.

Reducing Breads

Mrs. D.—There are no breads that will reduce you. All breads have practically the same caloric value, weight for weight.

When you buy an expensive bread to reduce you, you will find the directions tell you that you must eat no sweets, or nothing made of white flour. That means that you materially cut down on your calories, because that cuts out practically all pastry. You are usually advised to eat one or two slices of this "reducing" bread at a meal. This means that you eat less of bread, also, than you have been in the habit of doing.

These reducing breads are usually coarse breads, and help overcome constipation, but ordinary bran bread does the same thing.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Most women have at least a few pieces of rare old lace, handed down from ancestors. The following hints will help you to keep these treasures in good condition:

To Wash Strong Laces: Put one-third teaspoon of bluing into two quarts of skim-milk and soak the soiled laces in this. Squeeze, from time to time, to loosen the dirt, and when clean pull it into shape (without rinsing) cover with a clean muslin cloth, and press with a warm iron. If badly soiled, however, use this method instead of the skim-milk method: To a suds made of white soap and lukewarm water, add several drops of household ammonia and gently wash the laces in this. When clean, rinse them in clear, luke-warm water in which you have dissolved a little granulated sugar (about one tablespoon of the sugar to a quart of water) and press as above directed.

To Wash Filmy or Weakened Laces: Baste the lace face down on a large square of white linen, tacking down all points. Drive two stakes into your back yard and nail another lath across these at the top. Now lay the square of linen over this like a boy's "dog tent," with the lace uppermost. Secure the four corners of the linen to little pegs driven into the ground at the right distance from the stakes to keep the linen taut. Next, using a soft-bristled brush, cover the lace on the linen with a thick, creamy lather made with castile soap and luke-warm water; let this lather remain on the lace for several minutes, but before it has a chance to dry rinse it off with clear, lukewarm water. If the lace is not clean, repeat the lathering and rinsing process. Several rinse waters will be needed to remove all the soap. A little bluing should be added to the final rinse water. When the linen is almost dry, remove it from its tent-like position, lay it face-down on a folded Turkish towel on your ironing board, and press with a warm iron till entirely dry.

To Whiten Yellowed Lace: Run the yellowed lace through clear luke-warm water, then lay it on a platter in the sun. Cover it with castile lather prepared as above directed, and as it evaporates, saturate it again and again with more lather till it is bleached. Several hours may be needed to whiten it sufficiently. Rinse in clear water and press as described above.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

THE WORKING GIRL'S NAILS

A little attention every day will keep the nails perfect when the hands do not do rough nor dirty work. But the working girl, and by that I mean any girl or woman who works either home or in an office or factory, has a much harder problem. The housewife can wear gloves to protect her hands, but those who work out of the home are not so fortunate.

If you lead a busy life, the easiest thing is to take care of the nails at night time. Scrub them with warm water and soap and a hand brush or a regular nail brush. Let the brush soak in the water long enough so the bristles are not too stiff, otherwise they might scratch the surface of the nails, or irritate the finger tips.

Clean as carefully as you can with the end of a file. A lot of people say this is harmful, and to use an orangewood stick, but I never was able to clean my own nails that way when they were really soiled. If you are gentle I don't think it matters whether it's orange wood or steel. Push back the cuticle around the edges with an orangewood stick, and polish with a chamois covered, soft buffer, using polishing paste or powder if you need it.

This will show up any ugly or ragged bits of skin around the nails, which can be clipped off most easily with cuticle scissors. Now rub cold cream or special nail cream into the nails and push back the cuticle again. This is most valuable. In the morning, two seconds with a buffer will make your nails look beautifully manicured.

Lemon juice generally removes stains, but should be washed off and if possible, cream used, as it is drying. A few drops of vinegar is better for obstinate stains, and tomato juice, fresh or canned, for ink. An excellent cleanser is made of 30 grains of oxalic acid and one ounce of rose water. This will also soften and remove dead cuticle. It is poisonous, taken internally, so keep it away from children.

Constant Reader: It would be a very foolish undertaking for any one to try to peel the outer skin from the face. If you feel that you want to have this done, be sure to go to a doctor who specializes in this kind of work.

R. M. B.: It will help you overcome the habit of biting your nails if you paint under their edges with some harmless and bitter tasting preparation. A very old and effective thing for this purpose is "bitter aloes."

A honey and almond preparation is very useful at this season of the year for keeping the hands soft and white. A mixture of rose water and glycerine in equal parts will suit the skins of some people even better than the honey and almond preparations. Always dry your hands thoroughly after they have been immersed for any length of time in water, and be sure to protect them with gloves when out of doors.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

This settled, he called up Flint, recounted his loss, and described the bracelet. Then he proceeded to give a skillfully expurgated account of his adventure of the night before, and of his assault upon the congress gaiter.

Flint chuckled over the recital. "Any time you want a place on the force, it's yours, Mr. Graham," came over the wire. "Have you got time for a little expedition?"

"I'll make time. What is law to adventure!" called back Graham. "When and where?"

"Platform of the Sixth avenue uptown elevated at Forty-second street in half an hour. Can you make it?"

"I will, whether I can or not."

When they met within the half hour on the platform, Graham ventured to ask where they were going.

"To call on Miss Matilda Meechem," Flint informed him with an odd smile.

"Who is she?" asked Graham, puzzled.

"Dennis called her McCann, you told me."

"The lady of the gaiters?"

"The same. It's quite a story. The man I put on to hunt up those gaiters, found an antediluvian shoe shop at last where they had them. Had he ever sold any, my man asked. He had. Two customers bought them regularly. One was a Mrs. Julia Anderson, the other was a Miss Matilda Meechem. Our lady might have been either one or the other of them, but when you telephoned that Denis had made a slip and called his visitor Matilda, even though he tried to lead you off afterwards with his McCann, I knew that Miss Meechem was the one we were after. It all connects up like a picture puzzle, doesn't it?"

"I confess I can't fit in the pieces," acknowledged Graham. "Does it mean that Denis stole the rings and gave them to his cousin Matilda to dispose of?"

"Cousin nothing!" exclaimed Flint in scorn. "She's no more his cousin that you are. As to his stealing the rings, guess again, Mr. Graham. Not after fifty years of devotion to his family, and twice fifty times better chances to steal them. Out of character, don't you see? No, I have a hunch that, in a sort of way, there hasn't been any theft at all."

"You'll see in a minute now. We get off here."

Flint led the way down a side street to a house somewhat tidier than its neighbors. A card in its window whispered in small type its offer of furnished rooms.

The door was opened by a small, trim person of the type which clings forlornly to the remnant of what, in their day, was called gentility.

Graham's eyes instinctively sought her feet. A slim cloth shoe, frayed at the toes, peeped decorously from beneath her shiny silk gown. The lady of the congress gaiters had been run to earth.

Miss Meecham, flustered by the sight of the two men, seemed inclined to prevent their entrance. Her small figure, however, made but an ineffectual barrier.

"We have called to see Miss Estelle Hurst," Flint announced, and entered, followed by a gasping Graham.

Miss Meechem's pinched lips trembled nervously. "There is no such person here," she said in a small, stiffled voice.

Flint ignored her denial. "Tell her that Mr. John Graham, one of her father's attorneys, is here to see her."

Miss Meechem's helpless hands fluttered into nervous gesticulation. "But I tell you—I tell you"—she stammered.

"Don't go on fibbing, Meechie, you don't do it convincingly enough," a voice interrupted.

A door had opened, and in it stood the original of the portrait which hung in Mr. Hurst's drawing-room. Her beauty was unquestionable; Graham was dazzled by it. In a sudden vision, he saw her gowned as she must have been on the night of the murder, in the dress of green spangles which matched her eyes, with that red-gold hair twisting round her head like flames. A woman, he told himself, for whom a man might commit any crime, and a woman, it came to him as he watched her, who might be guilty of any crime herself. Her face, beautiful as it was, repelled him.

Flint stepped forward and confronted her. "This is Mr. Graham, of Graham, Keith & Graham; I am Flint, of headquarters," he said.

She bowed slightly to Graham in acknowledgment of the introduction. The detective she ignored. "Come in, won't you?" she said shortly.

The two men followed her into the parlor. Miss Meechem slipped in after them, and carefully closed the door.

"You needn't stay, Meechie," said Miss Hurst.

"I couldn't think of leaving you alone with these people, my dear," the little woman protested primly.

Estelle shrugged her shoulders insolently. "Meechie was my governess, and she thinks she is still responsible for me," she explained to Graham.

Miss Meechem winced at the girl's tone, but she stood her ground.

Estelle Hurst, her strong, white hands gripping the fragile back of a gilded chair, surveyed the two men haughtily. Seen against the tawdry background of the cheap, overfurnished parlor, she made the impression that the Kohinoor might worn by a shop girl.

"Well, gentlemen?" she said at last. The words conveyed a challenge. Flint accepted it.

"We have come to ask you a few questions about what happened on the night of your father's murder," he began abruptly.

"You are wasting your time. I know nothing about it," she replied.

"But, being on the spot, as you were—"

"What do you mean by saying I was on the spot! I wasn't near the place," she interrupted indignantly.

She lied so convincingly that, had the two men not known what they did, they must have believed her.

"We have the statement of the kitchen maid that you were in the house at twenty minutes after eight," continued Flint imperturbably.

"The word of a kitchen maid!" Her gesture of patrician scorn was superb.

"We have other evidence. "You left the house that evening wearing a dinner gown of some green spangled stuff. That gown is now in your room in your father's house. How did it get there, Miss Hurst?"

Cornered, she skillfully shifted her ground. "No matter how hard you try, you can't make a dozen gowns prove that I was in the house when my father was shot."

"My dear young lady, you put words into my mouth. I never said you were," returned Flint suavely.

"It was shortly after eight—twenty minutes after, to be exact, that you were heard talking—shall we say rather excitedly—with your father, and it may not have been till somewhere round nine o'clock that he was shot. Not later than that, anyway, perhaps a trifle earlier. That' of course, would give you time to slip into another dress, and to leave the house."

Graham saw the tension of Estelle's hands relax.

Suddenly Flint's tone changed. He began to drive his questions home with quick, hammer-like strokes.

"Why did you leave the house, Miss Hurst? Why did you stay away when you heard of your father's death? Why are you hiding here?"

Estelle's hands tightened again on the back of the gilded chair. "That is my own affair."

"Not quite. The police have made it theirs, and so has the public. They want to know something more, too. They want to know just when you took those rings from your father's collection, and why you sold them to Mr. Hermann Tessler."

Graham wondered at Flint's tone, which was one to drive an uncontrolled, high-tempered woman into a fury. Was he doing it on purpose? He saw the storm brewing, the green fire kindling in her eyes. The atmosphere was becoming electric.

"As a receiver of stolen goods, Mr. Tessler had better be investigated, too," went on Flint.

The storm burst. "Are you calling me a thief, you—you—creature—you spy!" Estelle shrilled. "Do you dare—" She lifted the fragile chair she held and brought it down with such force that it broke in her hands. "Sorry, Meechie," she said, throwing the pieces to one side. "But if you will buy such trumpery stuff!"

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S EASTER EGGS

"Uncle Wiggily, I suppose you know what day tomorrow is going to be; don't you?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as the rabbit gentleman sat in the easy chair of his hollow stump bungalow one morning, twinkling his pink nose.

"Let me see," said the bunny uncle, musing like and thoughtful. "Why, it's Sunday, as sure as strawberry shortcake!" he cried, looking at the calendar on the wall. "Tomorrow is Sunday!"

"Yes, but it is a very special Sunday for rabbit gentlemen like you!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper, "Tomorrow is Easter!"

"Gracious! You don't tell me! I had forgotten all about it!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, jumping up. "Where's my tall silk hat! Where's my red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch? Where's my coat? Where's my pocketbook?"

"What is all the excitement about?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Easter, of course," answered the bunny. "I must get in my automobile, hurry down to the eleven and twelve cent store and buy a lot of red, green, pink, blue, purple and yellow dyes to color the Easter eggs for the children. I nearly forgot about it. Hurry, Nurse Jane!"

So Nurse Jane hurried and Uncle Wiggily hurried, and soon the rabbit gentleman was in his hurry-up automobile riding as fast as the police dog would let him down to the eleven and twelve cent store.

"What do you wish?" asked the little mousie girl clerk behind the counter.

"I want colors for Easter eggs!" said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "Red, green, pink, yellow, blue and purple colors."

"Here are some dyes already mixed, in little glass jars," said the mousie girl. "All you need to do is to dip your Easter eggs in and they will come out blue, pink, yellow and all the colors of the rainbow."

"Please give me jars of many colors!" begged the bunny, and when he had paid for them he put them in his auto and hurried back to his hollow stump bungalow to make pretty eggs ready for Easter Sunday.

Uncle Wiggily was in such a hurry that he drove very fast, and pretty soon, the cover came off the red jar of egg dye and some of the red stuff splashed up on the bunny's left ear.

"No matter!" laughed the rabbit uncle, as he wiped the dye off as well as he could with his handkerchief. "I suppose I'll be splashed with all sorts of colors when I dip the eggs!"

On he drove. The automobile bounced over a bump, and the cover came off the jar of green color, splashing some up on the rabbit's right ear.

"Ho, ho," laughed the rabbit. "I must be getting to look like an Easter egg myself. But no matter. It's very jolly."

Faster and faster he drove his car, until, all of a sudden, the police dog, in the middle of the street, held up one paw and blew his whistle.

"I must stop," thought Uncle Wiggily. Stop he did, but so suddenly that the covers of the pink, blue, yellow and purple jars came off, and the egg dyes splashed up in the bunny's face and all over him. "Oh, my goodness!" he cried. And then he bounced right out of his auto onto the sidewalk, where he lay for a moment, not able to move.

"Oh, look at the funny Easter egg!" cried a little pussy cat girl, who was passing. "It's all lovely colors and shaped just like a rabbit. Oh, mother! I'm going to take this nice big rabbit Easter egg home with me." She ran over and caught hold of Uncle Wiggily where there was a spot of red on him.

"Excuse me, my dear," said the bunny politely. "But that's my left ear." The little pussy girl was so surprised that she caught hold of a green place. "That's my right ear, if you please," said the bunny politely. Then the little girl got hold of a pink place.

"Dow you hab my does," said the bunny, speaking as though he had a cold in his head. And then he laughed and the little pussy girl laughed and she cried:

"Take off your Easter dyes. I know you, Uncle Wiggily. Why are you trying to look like an Easter egg?"

"It's all a mistake, my dear—an accident," chuckled the rabbit. Then he got back in his auto, wiping off the dye as best he could until he got home, when he washed. And he had enough colors left to make many Easter eggs, and I hope you all will find some tomorrow morning. Uncle Wiggily wishes you a most happy Easter, and if the canary bird will let the rag doll sleep in its seed dish, I'll tell you next about the bunny's bouncer.

HOW CAN TAXES BE REDUCED?

MR. STEPHEN PACKER:

Dear Sir—In reply to the questions propounded by you, I will answer as follows:

"The citizens of Glendale have recently heard much concerning the subject of taxation and I realize that this is an opportune time to give the voters my brief opinion as to how the taxes can really be lowered.

"FIRST—The foundation of this all-important question is not the method of taxation; that matter is fixed by the laws of the state, and the question as to whether said method is good, bad or indifferent does not enter into the problem. The solution depends entirely upon the men and women who are elected to the legislative bodies of our local government, to-wit, county, school and city.

"SECOND—If elected to the Council I pledge to keep uppermost in my mind the fact that every dollar expended by the city would mean an additional tax of one dollar which the taxpayers will be called upon to pay each year; hence, having promised to vote for lower taxes, I would necessarily scrutinize every item before voting for the expenditure and assure myself that the city will receive in return for every dollar expended one hundred cents in value of service, labor or material.

"THIRD—It is an undisputed fact that in the past few years several million dollars have been expended for public work, which was levied by special assessments by the City Council against your property and my property, and while I firmly believe in a constructive program of necessary public work I am most emphatically opposed to any further improvements unless requested by a majority of the property owners affected by the assessment for the proposed improvement. That the petition must be a bona fide request of the property owners, circulated by them and not by a paid representative of some paving or material concern.

"FOURTH—Realizing that the present laws of the state in relation to special assessments provide how the proceedings shall be had for assessments of public works, and that said proceedings are, as a rule, complicated and not understood by the average taxpayer, I am in favor of giving the taxpayer the benefit of all publicity concerning said proposed improvements that can be given in addition to the requirements of the law.

"FIFTH—I am opposed to retaining in the service of the city any officer or employee who will either directly or indirectly use his position to further the interest of contractors of public work, and that if elected I promise to make a careful survey of this proposition, with a view to breaking up any so-called pools of contractors, all of which will aid greatly in the reduction of special assessments.

"SIXTH—I am opposed to the method of enforcing traffic laws for the purpose of securing revenue rather than for the safety of the public at large. I am in favor of a reasonable policy that will add to the dignity rather than ridicule the good name of our city.

"In conclusion, would state that I am not unmindful of the fact that many of the voters of Glendale are engaged in business or are employed in the city of Los Angeles, and that these voters have received very little consideration in the past. I promise that if elected, I will vote in favor of open meetings to be held in the evening in order to give every voter an opportunity to attend."

County To Cooperate With Glendale In Fixing Flood Control

Los Angeles county will co-operate with the city of Glendale in the formation of a joint boundary proceeding that will permit Glendale to take measures to prevent damage from flood waters in the northern part of the city in the future, it was learned today.

In answer to a request by V. B. Stone, city manager, that the county Board of Supervisors co-operate under the joint boundary act, he received a communication today from M. B. Beatty, chief clerk of the board, notifying him that the matter has been referred to the flood control engineer to co-operate and advise "in the formation of a district to take care of flood conditions."

Formation of a district will not be required, Stone said today, but co-operation between city and county is necessary under the joint boundary act before either can act to correct present conditions. With action by the board of supervisors, however, the city will be able to install drainage to prevent overflowing flood waters in the Casa Verdugo and North Glendale districts this summer.

Dr. James A. Belyea Endorses Dr. Traxler

Editor The Evening News—I note with pleasure the attitude which Dr. Paul S. Traxler has taken regarding various matters of civic interest. My close association with Dr. Traxler for the past seven years has been most intimate; our work together in France was of a character which has shown to me conclusively that Dr. Traxler weighs well the effect which any action he might take will have upon every one concerned. What he believes to be right he will work for even to his own personal loss.

His professional training together with experience gained while working for two years in the department of public welfare, Chicago, his knowledge of the needs of young men and women gained while he was instructor in physiology in the Northwestern Dental university, Chicago, and in the medical department, University of Illinois, Chicago, has particularly fitted him to be well qualified to realize the needs of our younger generation. Dr. Traxler is a man of proven ability, high moral standard, honest and capable and will serve the whole people. He has a fearless and strong character and will prove to be a councilman whose judgment is sound.

COUNCILMAN

Tuesday, April 14

Why We're for Him!

In the first place, we have all been with him from 2 to 7 years. Our association together has been more like one great big family rather than employee and employer. We have worked with him for the success of the business rather than merely "for him."

The wages we receive we know to be the best, and by that we mean the largest paid by any similar concern in Glendale, and this holds good all the way down the line from manager to delivery boy.

We're for our "Boss" also because he's for Glendale. He has always reminded us that we are first, last and all the time a Glendale institution, that we earn our money here and that in fairness to our city, our employer and to ourselves that we should spend our money here. Pass it along to the home fellow has always been our policy, for then we know that it has a chance of coming back again to us.

We feel that our employer, Harry MacBain, has made a success of his business, and experience has shown us the keen attention he pays to detail and administration of his own affairs. Hence it is that we are certain that he is qualified to handle the affairs of the city of Glendale in a thoroughly competent and efficient manner.

We Are Glad for the Privilege of Urging You to Remember the "Boss" When You Visit the Polls Tuesday

President Instructs Guard Pay Released

WASHINGTON, April 11—President Coolidge has instructed the war department to release $1,742,000 additional appropriations for naval guard armory drill pay for the next fiscal year which he had previously ordered held up.

Two weeks ago President Coolidge ordered the war department to withhold payments of $1,332,000 armory drill pay for the present fiscal year, but later released it. The president informed the war department that the budget appropriation for the fiscal year 1927 must be so administered that there will be no deficiency in armory drill pay.

SPECIAL EASTER BILL AT THEATRE

Glendale House Promises Big Variety; Priscilla Dean On Silver Sheet

A bill of exceptional merit has been arranged for tomorrow by Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale theatre, when he will present, as a special Easter offering, Michel, the musical marvel of the world, in a solo number with organ accompaniment by Paul Carson. Michel will appear both at the afternoon and night performances tomorrow.

Priscilla Dean in a colorful romance, "A Cafe In Cairo," and the Sutherland Saxophone Six are also scheduled at the Glendale Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The Saxophone Six is an offspring of the famous Tom Brown Saxophone Revue. Singing, clever dancing and comedy conversation coupled with exceptionally fine saxophone playing make this an extremely entertaining act. Sutherland, organizer and leader of the group has the honor of having played for the Prince of Wales on his recent trip to the United States.

'Cafe In Cairo'

Advance reports state that Miss Dean's new picture "A Cafe In Cairo" is not only one of the most lavish productions in which she has ever appeared, but that it even exceeds "The Siren of Seville" from the point of action and dramatic interest. Chet Withey directed.

The film is a picturizaton of the novel of the same name by Isola Forrester, author of "The White Moth." It is a colorful, exotic melodramatic romance of the land of Cleopatra, and it is said that the very atmosphere and mysticism of the Far East pervades its every scene.

SHADES OF HAMLET!

COPENHAGEN, April 11.—Historic Kromberg Castle, intimately associated with Shakespeare's "Hamlet," is soon to be evacuated by the military forces, in order to permit its restoration. Home Minister Hauge complains that much vandalism has been committed while the soldiers have been using the castle as barracks.

Hit by Auto

Evelyn Brent bruised in big scene of "Midnight Molly" now being shown at Glendale Theatre.

An automobile accident is an automobile accident; even if it does happen in the movies. And to prove it, Evelyn Brent, star of "Midnight Molly," was laid up for three days following an "accident" in which she was run down by a big touring car.

One scene of this thrilling melodrama, now showing at the Glendale Theatre, required that the heroine should be struck by a machine. Miss Brent, who has consistently refused to use a double insisted upon playing the sequence herself.

Accordingly Director Lloyd Ingraham had a special bumper built on the car which was to hit her, so that through no chance would she be thrown under the wheels. Naturally the camera action recorded the scenes more rapidly than it actually took place; but save for this fact the performance was shot strictly on its merits.

The big car hit Miss Brent with sufficient force to throw her to the roadside nearly a rod away from the machine, and she was severely bruised in falling. The picture ends its showing here tonight.

Vaudeville Bill

An Apache dance by members of the Revue Comique, one of the vaudeville features, is realistic in its portrayal. The beautiful Russian costumes and scenic embellishments are enough to win for the five members of the act the encomiums of their auditors and prove a delight to the eye. Virgil and Blanche Floreni who perform a series of poses that are beautiful and daring, atop a high electric fountain that is a reproduction of a masterpiece of Vasca at Florence, Italy, are exceptionally good. Their act is an importation direct from Europe and is the only one of its kind.

"On the Highway" is full of comedy and drama, while Fiske & Fallon's "Words and Music" is equally good. In addition to her pianologue dainty Miss Fiske gives sound imitations of different musical instruments including an octarino, one stringed violin and a steel guitar.

Claymo, a skillful modeler, presents a unique act of clay modeling. He begins his exhibition by taking lumps of clay and throwing them together until he has a pile two or more feet high, and then with his bare hands he deftly moulds a series of heads representing present day leaders of men and women.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, April 11.—Frank Turner has left for Winchester where he will have charge of the new subdivision of several hundred acres being placed on the market by Fred Anderson, the first realtor in the valley. This acreage which lies between Riverside and Hemet is being sold in single acre units.

Dr. Lucena Turner osteopath, has purchased a new Durant sedanette.

Pupils of Miss Agnes Henderson appeared in piano recital at her home. The following interesting program was presented: "An Eskimo Lullaby" and "The Cello" by Virginia Russell; "The Brook," Kathryn Erwim; "The Twins" and "Naughty Little Fido," Gwyn Maxson; "Spinning Song" by Bertha Turner and Joanne Broyle; "In An Alabama Cabin," Nita Synder; "Dance of the Sunbeams," Barbara Stamps; "Sextette from Lucia," Lillian Anderson; "Meditation," Eleanor Russel; "A Contest Baeton," Vernon and Lester Dayhoff; "The Happy Meadow Lark," Otto Cesena; "Seven o'Clock" and "Truant Baby Kitten," Joanne Broyles. After the program Miss Henderson entertained the children with an old-time Easter party and egg hunt.

Dr. Gregg announces he is so busy with hospital work as to necessitate a change in his Montrose office hours which will be 10 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m. by appointment.

Mrs. J. H. Meyers left for an extended business trip to Florida. She will also visit Memphis and New Orleans.

M. S. Collins is staging another of his spectacular real estate sales. At 2 o'clock this afternoon he opened his new subdivision of business lots on the westend of Montrose avenue for $1200 each. These lots are a stone's throw from Los Angeles avenue business center.

VISITORS ENJOY DOBINSON SHOWS

Physician of Los Angeles Expresses Appreciation For Production

Los Angeles people are flocking to "Manna" at the Glendale Playhouse in increasing numbers, and furthermore, they are tremendously impressed by this play of faith and love. One of the many letters received during the past few days at the box office came from Carl E. Conn, physician and surgeon, whose office is Suite 207-211 Murphy Building, 3200 West Sixth street. Dr. Conn writes:

"Dear Mrs. Dobinson—I hope you will pardon this intrusion on your busy life but I wish to tell you how much Mrs. Conn and all the friends we have taken over to hear your players have enjoyed them.

"I believe in giving credit where it rightfully belongs and wish to say we have not as yet missed, nor do we intend to miss, a single new performance you put on at the Playhouse.

Enjoy "Manna"

"When you consider the easy access we have to the innumerable amusements both in Hollywood and Los Angeles, (as we live in Hollywood and my office is in Los Angeles) and the fact that we are most pleased with your splendid efforts, it may give you a wee bit of encouragement to continue your good work and management.

"We especially enjoyed 'Manna' last night and feel that both Mr. Butler and yourself are to be congratulated as well as every member of your cast."

Reward of Work

"It is such expressions that constitute one of the big rewards of the theatrical business," commented Mrs. Dobinson. "It is hard work, work that requires unremitting attention to a thousand daily details, but one loves it or one wouldn't be in it. And the scores of letters that 'Manna' is bringing helps us to forget some of the vexations."

Owing to Easter preparations and a heavy program in their citadel, the Salvation Army members who have faithfully appeared in every performance of the play up to Thursday night, were absent from that performance. Miss Myranna Richards, contralto, carried the street scene admirably, however, in her garb as a Salvation Army lassie. She was assisted by members of the company and the orchestra from behind the scenes. The Salvation Army band will appear at all other performances.

MINISTERS NAME 7 CANDIDATES

Nine Pastors Meet, Decide On 'Suggestions' To Glendale Voters

Nine pastors of Glendale churches held a meeting yesterday, it was announced to The Glendale Evening News, for the purpose of discussing the plan of making "suggestions" to Glendale voters relative to candidates for the City Council. The nine pastors decided to suggest the names of seven candidates for the places of five councilmen.

The ministers, it was stated, do not wish their "suggestions" to be considered a "ticket." They stated that they are being asked by members of their congregations for their judgment on the twenty-one candidates and yesterday's meeting and decision resulted, as outlined in the following:

Editor The Evening News—We, the undersigned, pastors of churches in Glendale, having been asked by hundreds of our constituency and by a large number of other voters to express our judgment as to candidates, do, after careful deliberation, suggest the following-named gentlement as splendid possibilities for councilmen to be elected next Tuesday, April 14, 1925:

Rev. Kline Calls Mass Meeting For Sunday

Kline, pastor of Central avenue Methodist church, announces that there will be a mass meeting at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at his church in connection with the revival campaign being conducted by Evangelist George Bennard. Mr. Bennard will speak on "Sanctification, the Most Misunderstood Doctrine of the Bible." Mr. Bennard will also speak at the Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock; at 11 o'clock on "The Acid Test of Consecration," and at night at 7:30 o'clock on "Crossing the Dead Line."

'CHARLEY'S AUNT' ON GATEWAY BILL

Comedy Has Syd Chaplin In Leading Role; Opens Tomorrow On Screen

The old joking phase "louder and funnier" was never so apt as in the case of "Charley's Aunt" which will open at the Gateway tomorrow to show Monday and Tuesday. Al Christie may safely be credited with having produced a feature-length comedy which is funnier than any we have ever before seen and at which audiences laugh louder than they have laughed in months, if not in years.

When the situations progress the laughs come thick and fast until they develop into howls of merriment. Syd Chaplin, the star, in the title role of "Charley's Aunt from Brazil where the nuts come from" is undeniably at his best and this is the high point of his career so far. He hits the high spots of comedy as do the others in the cast.

Special Matinees

About all that need be said is that the picture has more laughs than the play, so it is assured that those who go to the Gateway theatre will have an hour and a half of "joy unconfined."

Manager Loper will operate special matinees Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to care for the patrons of The Gateway who might wish to attend the afternoon shows.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, April 11.—An old-fashioned Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by the children of Highway Highlands yesterday afternoon, when a committee of the following women entertained the children of the tract: Mesdames Emory Jones, Dewey Lefevre, Paul Rodet, R. H. Berry and Roy Tate. The eggs were hidden over the tract, keeping the children busy for some time. After the hunt they went to the Highway Highlands clubhouse, where tables had been set with Easter decorations. Ice cream and cake were served, after which the children played games. Over forty children, all residents of the tract, were present.

There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion tomorrow morning in the Episcopal church of St. Luke's of the Mountain at the corner of Rosemont and Michigan avenues. Sunday school will be at 9:45 o'clock and communion service at 10:45 o'clock.

George Wales Farrand has resigned as secretary of the La Crescenta Chamber of Commerce to take up his duties for the Montrose Chamber of Commerce. Herbert Scheuner was elected to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mr. Farrand.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stark of Highway Highlands are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter.

Members of the Parent-Teacher association reading circle met at the home of Mrs. Eloise Farmer, on Altura avenue, for its regular weekly business. Eighteen members listened to the interesting report of Mrs. Vernon Hall of the Redondo conference. Mrs. Farmer was assisted in serving luncheon by Mrs. E. Joyce of Glendale and Mrs. E. W. Mitchlemore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wadey and family of Pennsylvania avenue have left for an extended motor trip to Colorado, where they will visit relatives. Mr. Wadey is the proprietor of the Wadey service station.

Miss Mary Ann Howard of Montrose, and Misses Margaret Brown and Florence Peterson are spending the Easter vacation at the Foy ranch in Antelope valley, the guests of Miss Charlotte Foy.

Ingar Anderson, Constange Angier and Marjorie Barret are on the vacation sick list.

The music section of the La Crescenta Valley Women's club met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Haskins in Montrose yesterday afternoon for the rehearsal in preparation for All-American Music Week program. Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, curator of the department, is planning an exceptionally novel entertainment for the evening when the American songs of colonial days will be sung.

Masons of La Crescenta valley have almost outgrown their club quarters in Highway Highlands and are now making plans for a new home somewhere nearer the center of the valley. The club will now be known officially as the La Crescenta Valley Masons' club. Meetings will still be held at Highway Highands clubhouse for the present.

World-Wide Baptists In District Meeting

The district meeting of the World Wide guild of Baptist churches was held last night at the First Baptist church, thirty representatives from Glendale, Pasadena and Hollywood being in attendance. Mrs. Fred Magill, leader of the Glendale organization presided at the meeting.

A banquet was served at 6 o'clock in the social hall when a program was given. Miss Ruth Henry is president of Glendale World Wide guild. Speakers for the meeting were: Mrs. Arthur Willett, secretary of World Wide guild of Southern California; Mrs. Raymond Rosenberger, who has charge of groups of district, and Mrs. C. Wallis, missionary from India. A piano duet was given by Miss Hazel Owens and Miss Mary Anderson, and a duet was sung by Misses Henrietta and Ellmina Boselly.

A Letter From W. T. Jefferson

When Central Avenue was being widened, there was lots of trouble. Rain would come.

Work would stop. Sidewalks would be blocked. And we would telephone the city hall.

And always Mr. Gilhuly was on the job. He couldn't have taken more interest in the work if he owned every foot of frontage in the block. We didn't know him very well before the street was widened.

Now we know him and like him for a hard working city official. And we hope he will be re-elected, though we have a candidate in our block, Mr. Seal, that we hope will be elected also. And we are inserting this notice, at our own expense, without Mr. Gilhuly's knowledge.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA

April 10, 1925.

Mr. A. T. Cowan,
Prop. of Glendale Evening News,
Glendale, California.

Dear Mr. Cowan:

You will remember that during the Sewer Bond Campaign I was chairman of the Publicity Committee and for that reason was intensely interested in the carrying out of the promises and agreements of the City Council and the successful construction of our sewer.

The Sewer System is now well under way and all indications point to the fact that Glendale is going to have one of the finest sewer systems in this county at a very low initial expense and the City Council has assured me that the expense will be lower than estimated, which will mean that about $125,000.00 of the original bond issue will not be required.

City Councilman Sam Davis and a candidate for re-election, was the big gun behind the sewer campaign. It was through months of effort on his part with the City Council of Los Angeles, the City and County Engineers and legal advisers to the City of Glendale, that a contract very advantageous to this City was drawn up and which allowed the construction of an outfall sewer to carry off the sewage from the City of Glendale.

It is hard for the public to conceive the tremendous amount of work that it required on the part of Councilman Sam Davis to successfully bring about this contract, which provided our only possible outlet for a sewerage system from this city.

After the signing of the contract, he spent weeks in untiring effort to get over a bond issue for the sewer. The need of the sewer was very evident and was recognized by the citizens of Glendale when the bonds carried ten to one. High Praise for James Rhoades

Prominent Glendale Men Endorse Candidate For City Councilman

Editor The Evening News—May we express to the voters of Glendale through the columns of your valuable paper some reasons why Jim Rhoades should be elected one of the five members of the City Council. In stating these reasons, we have no objections to any one of the other candidates as they are all sterling citizens, but as there are five to be elected, we believe for the following reasons Mr. Rhoades should be one of the five:

First—He has demonstrated his business ability in handling public affairs during the three years he served Glendale as secretary of our Chamber of Commerce.

Second—He has had experience in municipal affairs, having served as mayor of Missoula, Montana, where he rendered splendid service as mayor of that city from 1912 to 1914.

Third—He is a man that is not owned nor controlled by any individual company or corporation and is free to serve the vast interest of the whole people.

Fourth—He is a fearless fighter for right and is a man who can and will represent his constituency under any and all circumstances.

Fifth—He is an honest man and will deal honestly in all his dealings either public or private, and has placed before the people of Glendale letters of recommendation of his past life proving conclusively his integrity.

In the face of these facts which we submit to the voters, we believe Mr. Rhoades is qualified for your consideration and support.

CITY EMPLOYES RECEIVE PRAISE

Miss Ruth Kern, Deputy Treasurer, A. J. Van Wie Declared Capable

Editor The Evening News:—I noticed in a recent edition of your paper a letter from Judge Hartley Shaw, endorsing the candidacy of Miss Ruth Kern for city treasurer of Glendale, and trust that you will publish the following brief facts which I have the pleasure to offer with respect to Miss Ruth Kern and also with respect to A. J. Van Wie, who is seeking re-election to the office of city clerk of your city.

I have for the past three years been examining street proceedings, including the issuance of bonds therein, in the city of Glendale, for various contractors and have come in close contact with both of these officials now holding office in your city. I have the pleasure to convey to the city of Glendale, the information that I have always found both of these officers very conversant in the matters pertaining to my particular line of work, and I have also found that they have kept their records in a most satisfactory manner.

One thing in particular that has impressed me with reference to these officers is that they always meet the public in a most courteous manner and having in mind that the duties of both the office of city treasurer and that of city clerk are very technical ones indeed, and the fact that the city of Glendale has schooled these two officers in their particular lines of work. I feel that the voters of the city of Glendale will make no mistake by electing these two officers to the respective offices which they seek.

I feel that both Miss Kern and Mr. Van Wie are trustworthy and fully capable of performing the duties of each office in an efficient manner.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

In determining what candidate I should support in the Glendale City Council I have taken occasion to check over the constructive legislative program of the City of Glendale during the last four years and it is pleasing to find that you have sponsored the largest proportion of progressive matters. I find that you moved the creation of traffic commission, which in my opinion was a step in the right direction. You have also attempted to protect the interests of the people by creating a Tax Appraisal Committee. You have fought for and succeeded in putting over one of Glendale's greatest accomplishments—the sewerage system.

I have always been able to know just where you stood on a proposition. Sometimes it is natural that opinions should differ, but I have found you always attempting to put over the things for the best interest of Glendale, and I therefore take great pleasure in offering you my support in the coming election and will do all that I can to get my friends to vote for you.

OPPOSES CHARGE ON WATER METERS

Wilbur F. Tower Declares His Opposition To Present Policy

Editor The Evening News—Will you kindly allow me a few lines on this question of abolishing water meter charges? The facts in the case are these: When the city of Glendale took over the water works system they installed the meters free, paying for them out of the receipts. They continued to so until August 20, 1920. Over 4300 meters were thus furnished to the consumers of water free. Then, owing to the rapid expansion of the system and the need of more funds, the City Council adopted the plan of charging for the meters and installation, first making a charge of $22 and later raising it to $30, in both cases retaining ownership of the meters and continuing to charge those that paid the installation charge just as much for water as the 4300 persons who had paid nothing for the meters.

My objection to this method is two-fold. First, as a matter of equity; the amount involved is not large, but it is unjust and, therefore, wrong just the same. Working a hardship, especially on those persons who with limited means are trying to build a small home over their heads.

Blocks Progress

Second, it discourages the building industry. It cripples, if not kills the goose that lays the golden egg for Glendale. For building is our biggest industry at the present time.

Municipally owned utilities should be as fair and generous with its patrons as privately owned companies. Would the City Council consent to the gas company charging $30 for the installation of a gas meter? There is no question about it, but that the expense of the water system should come out of the receipts and that our enterprising citizens, who build, should not be compelled to pay a direct tax to help meet the expense. Not a few only, but all should share alike. If elected to the City Council I shall endeavor to put meters on the free list.

SAM DAVIS GETS CREDIT FOR WORK

Lyman P. Clark, Head Of Sewer Bond Publicity, Praises Councilman

Lyman P. Clark today sent the following self-explanatory communication to The Glendale Evening News:

A. T. Cowan,
Proprietor of The Glendale Evening News, Glendale, Calif.

Dear Mr. Cowan—You will remember that during the sewer bond campaign I was chairman of the publicity committee and for that reason was intensely interested in the carrying out of the promises and agreements of the City Council and the successful construction of our sewer.

The sewer system is now well under way and all indications point to the fact that Glendale is going to have one of the finest sewer systems in this county at a very low initial expense, and the City Council has assured me that the expense will be lower than estimated, which will mean that about $125,000 of the original bond issue will not be required.

City Councilman Sam Davis and a candidate for re-election, was the big gun behind the sewer campaign. It was through months of effort on his part with the City Council of Los Angeles, the city and county engineers and legal advisers to the city of Glendale that a contract very advantageous to this city was drawn up and which allowed the construction of an outfall sewer to carry off the sewage from the city of Glendale.

It is hard for the public to conceive the tremendous amount of work that it required on the part of Councilman Sam Davis to successfully bring about this contract, which provided our only possible outlet for a sewage system from this city.

After signing of the contract he spent weeks in untiring effort to get over a bond issue for the sewer. The need of the sewer was very evident and was recognized by the citizens of Glendale when the bonds carried ten to one. This indicates to the public the interest that Sam Davis has in the welfare of this city and proper recognition can best be given him by the public's support of his re-election.

Having lived in Glendale for some seventeen years, and having a large family of my own, it is needless to say that the school question is one that is near and dear to me, and that I feel that the value received in exchange for our dollars in taxes does not reach the heighth of efficiency as it should.

In closing, I wish to say that I am in sympathy with not overloading Glendale with taxes.

WRESTLING CARD DRAWS AT LEGION

Three Snappy Mat Matches And Boxing Bouts Draw Large Crowd

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Wrestling, that ancient Greek game which has lasted through the centuries, proved to be a great drawing card last night at the meeting of the Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, when three mat matches were staged on the sport card arranged through the assistance of Kenneth Dix, manager of the Southwest Athletic club, of Los Angeles. So interesting were the three matches that Legion officials are seriously considering staging similar cards often in the future.

Wallace Dugid, a Glendale wrestler who has just returned from an invasion of the east where he won seventeen matches, and is considered the most logical contender for a championship match with Wayne Munn, of Kansas City, appeared in the main event last night with Pete Saures. Dugid outweighed his opponent, but the slippery tactics of Saures made the match one that will long be remembered by the spectators.

Unlike many mat matches, the event was marked by speed, punishing holds administered by both men, and spectacular escapes from what seemed to be certain grapples. It was a time limit match and the men wrestled fifteen minutes to a draw. Dugid holds the championship of Canada in the heavyweights' division, getting it from Daviscourt.

Whitey Gets Fall

"Whitey" Aylward, wrestling instructor at the Southwest Athletic club, won a fall from Joe Kent, physical director at the Health Culture institute, Los Angeles, in 7 minutes, 35 seconds, with a Japanese wrist lock combined with a leg scissor on the left shoulder. The match, which was the semi-windup, was snappy and kept the spectators on the edge of their chairs.

Hugh Stover, of the Southwest Athletic club, and Howard Giffin, of Polytechnic High school, wrestled ten minutes to a draw in a strictly amateur match. Both boys are contenders in the national A. A. U. events, appeared last night as amateurs, and wrestled absolutely under the simon-pure rules and regulations.

Three Boxing Bouts

Three boxing bouts preceded the mat matches. The bouts were arranged by Glenn Mapes, chairman of the special committee. Young Abe Attell officiated as referee. The first event was a simon-pure bout between Young Benny Leonard and Young Rocky Kansas, two 46-pounders from the Newsboys' Athletic club. The little fellows boxed three rounds in a draw, and showed the spectators that all the speed was not cornered by the grownups.

Jack Carr, Glendale scrapper, hit Johnny Martin, of Los Angeles, with everything but the ring posts in the second bout. The fact that the posts were nailed down might have had something to do with it. Martin appeared to possess nothing in the legal art of assault beyond an ability to crawl into a shell and hit out with his right where Carr wasn't. The raising of Carr's glove at the end of the bout was a mere formality.

Bag Punching

Chuck Boden and Sailor Carter, a couple of 140-pounders, were going good until the third round when Chuck planted his glove in the sailor's face and the navy man did a backflop over the ropes, striking his head on the floor. Abe started counting, but there was no need of tolling off the seconds, for the sailor was out cold. Borden meets Sailor Ashmore in the main event at San Fernando next Wednesday night, and Jack Carr meets Billy Blake in the semi-windup on the same card.

Between the boxing bouts and the mat matches, Prof. Bryan Fry, champion bag puncher of America and physical culture expert of The Glendale Evening News, gave an exhibition of fancy and trick bag punching. Prof. Fry has toured the Orpheum circuit several times, and has appeared throughout the United States, Europe and South America. He is a Glendalian and his series of articles on how to keep fit will start on the sport page of The Glendale Evening News next Monday.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, April 11.—While eastern crews are just beginning to get the feel of their shells, and coaches are pretty much in doubt as to the final seating of their men, the Pacific coast is all set for the first of the season's important regattas, the annual three mile race between the University of Washington and the University of California eights. To a man the northwest is backing the Huckies to defeat the Bears on the Oakland estuary today.

Many conditions, including boisterous weather and impinging examinations combined to delay the progress of the Seattle sweep-swingers and for a time Russell Callow, the coach, was none too sure that his galley slaves would be ready for the Oakland test.

But while the freshmen mortality in the recent scholastic grill affected the first year crew, the varsity men and substitutes came through with flying colors, while at the same time the puckered surface of Lake Washington flattened down and permitted the oarsmen to propel their ships under racing conditions.

Just now there is not a bit of over confidence among the varsity men. Coach Callow has seen to that, but at the same time there is a very fine psychology in the boat, a racing spirit that means much when the referee's pistol cracks and the shells are away.

Washington has the sanction of success over California, having won twelve out of sixteen regattas, and the writer has word from experts in the northwest that despite Callow's cautious demeanor the Blue and Gold will have to beat a crew every bit as formidable as the championship 1924 Washington crew.

The places of the few men missing from the eight that rowed at Poughkeepsie last year, and earlier defeated California, have been capably filled and the greatest loss seems to be in the coxswain's seat through the graduation of Don Grant, who coxed the crew for three years and is now assisting Edward Leader at Yale.

One of the interesting phases of today's regatta will lie in the fact that for the first time a course on the upper estuary at Oakland will be used for the three mile race. Just what features recommended the change the writer knows not, but the feeling is that it is better adapted in every way for an intercollegiate regatta.

Captain Logg, former commander of the University of Washington ship, who is at Princeton coaching the varsity, has won the heart of Dr. Spath, director of rowing at Nassau. And the oarsmen are very enthusiastic about him, too. The Tigers, say those who have watched the men in their outdoor tests, are likely to develop into a formidable outfit. What a day it will be for West Coast men in the east when the skill of Logg and his former colleagues at Washington are put to the test in May when the Tigers and Elis meet.

Germany's increasing buying power for various kinds of "luxury' foodstuffs is illustrated by the notable rise in imports of tea and coffee since the currency was stabilized in 1923.

Columbus Outlook Is Good

"SPUD" CAMPBELL, third baseman; EMILO PALMERO, pitcher; ELMER AMBROSE, pitcher and FRED NICOLAI, shortstop, expected to help the Columbus team of the American association win a pennant this year.

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

I watched the Cinci Reds in action one day this spring in Orlando, Fla. Their opponents for the afternoon were the Columbus American association team. And the two outstanding members of that minor outfit, to my mind, were old George McQuillan and young Fred Nicolai. More about McQuillan some other time. This yarn's about the boy.

Nicolai was playing shortstop on the sandlots of Kansas City last year. Probably every scout in the big leagues would have been glad to have received a tip-off on him. The Columbus bosses heard of him first and grabbed him.

By the time I reached the game that spring afternoon two or three big league clubs had already put out feelers for the lad. He is one of the sweetest young infielders produced in recent years. Tubby Molesworth, veteran leader of the Columbus team, will tell you that. And Molesworth is beyond the age of gushing remarks.

Natural Shortstop

Nicolai is a natural shortstop. He plays both sides of his position well and the infield grounder isn't produced that bothers him. If this lad lives up to expectations he may do much toward putting the Columbus team in the fight to grab off the pennant this year.

A deal that Columbus put over with Indianapolis seems to have worked out happily all around. Hank Schreiber was sent to the Hoosier team for "Spud" Campbell and Blessing. Schreiber works in well at short for the Indianapolis club, according to Manager Donie Bush, and Campbell has already won attention at third for the Ohio team. Blessing may break into the regular lineup before the season advances far. He has already proved himself a reliable utility infielder.

Cuban Pitcher

Emilio Palmero, Cuban pitcher, hopes for a good season despite the fact that the cataract which formed on his eye following an injury two years ago fails to yield to treatments. Palmero was hit by a thrown ball, heaved by Dick Burrus, two years ago and the injury is blamed for the growth. If Palmero and Elmer Ambrose, another veteran of the squad, come through in the box the Senators will have an A 1 pitching staff. Nelson Potts, left-hander, obtained in another trade with Milwaukee, is counted on as a regular and a winning one. McQuillan, set to go on forever, will be another. Northrop and Foulk are the other hurlers counted on to add their bit. Gus Ketchum must come back if he hopes to retain his job. Gus hurt his arm in St. Paul last fall and seemed unable to bring it back before the season ended. He was having trouble with it early this spring.

The Ohio capital is bound to have an interesting ball club this year. And if Fred Nicolai keeps going they'll cash in on him at the end of the campaign.

SPORT CHATTER

By THE SPORTSMAN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 11.—One of the outstanding features of the winter golf season just concluded was the play of that wee veteran, Freddie McLeod, popular professional of the Columbia Country club of Washington.

The canny little Scot, who plays this most baffling of all games so well, with his head as well as with his hands and arms, has finished right up with the leaders in all the tournaments in which he has competed this winter. When it is considered that McLeod is the oldest professional, in point of service, as well as the oldest competitor, excepting Alex Smith, this is truly remarkable.

McLeod was a prominent figure in golf more than a score of years ago, when Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Al Watrous, Leo Diegel and other youngsters now occupying the limelight, were in swaddling clothes.

Wee Freddie won the National championship of 1908. Since that time he has won various other titles. But the remarkable part about his career is that he is still a real competitor in any tournament he enters, despite the handicap of size as well as of age. Because of his small stature, McLeod has difficulty getting the distance from the tees that Sarazen, Farrell and some of the others get. Nevertheless, in some manner, he manages to get to the greens in the same number of shots as the others, and then he has a distinct advantage, for he is one of the best putters in the game.

Last year he pursued Farrell hard for honors in the qualifying round of the National championship at Worcester. He likes this course and plays it well. Watch him in the open on this layout about next June.

Four Strong Teams In N. Y. Games Today

NEW YORK, April 11.—Four pennant contending ball clubs will be seen within the limits of Greater New York this afternoon when the New York Giants and Washington Senators, champions both, play at the Polo grounds and the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, runners-up in their respective leagues in 1924, meet at Ebbetts field, Brooklyn.

The Yankees already have won the Brooklyn series with nine victories in fifteen games while the best the Senators can do is a tie, having won four games of the ten played.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

(In this dispatch John B. Foster tells how the eight teams of the National league size up for the championship race which starts next Tuesday. He has seen all of them in action at their training camps and in exhibition games. In previous dispatches he has discussed each team individually; now he treats them collectively as to their relations with each other. In his next dispatch he will discuss the teams of the American league.)

NEW YORK, April 11.—Eight baseball machines begin work in the national league race of 1925 next Tuesday. Of these there is only one, the New York Giants, which hits on all eight cylinders. There is another team which hits on seven and three-quarters cylinders, the Pittsburgh Pirates.

There is a third team which should hit on at least seven cylinders, the Cincinnati Reds. There is a fourth team which has power enough to hit on eight cylinders plus, but it probably will not, the St. Louis Cardinals.

There is a fifth machine which has six cylinders worth of pitching material and perhaps another cylinder in batting power, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

There is a sixth team which started so fast that it looked like a seven cylinder operator sure and then fate punctured the gas tank, the Chicago Cubs.

The Giants must of sheer necessity be selected as the probable winner of the pennant in the league's golden jubilee year. They may not win because baseball is filled with pitfalls. But they are a team which not only is seasoned but which is properly fitted to do right those things which must be done by a team in order to win the pennant.

The Giants have reserve strength. They have a nimble outfield which is better than that of 1924. They have an infield which is not the smartest in baseball but which is smart enough to win a pennant with the proper elements of assistance.

The great menace to the Giants in the possibility that the older players will crack. If one of the veterans, or two, go by the boards, it will be a disturbing factor even to this well balanced organization. It has been declared that the weakness of the Giants is in the pitching staff. But the pitchers are not so bad, comparatively, when rated with those of the other clubs.

Other teams have better individual pitchers but they also have weaknesses which the Giants do not have.

Pittsburgh has the fastest team collectively in baseball today. Its possibilities of fielding are superior to those of the Giants. If its batters thump the ball to a state of .295 the team will be in the race to the finish but if it does not develop batting when batting is needed, that is, when runners are on bases, it will not wear any golden crown.

The Cincinnati club, if it had a first baseman of parts, would be dangerous. It has a pitching staff, properly controlled, which should make all opposition batters doff their bowlers. Three positions on the infield fairly sing with vim. The fourth is an uncertain quantity.

If the St. Louis kid pitchers come through, the Cards will be in the running. This is a dangerous outfit in many ways although it is not a perfected and smooth running ball club. If it is not "over advised" it is apt to finish in the first division.

The chances of the Brooklyn club began to mount when Petty was taken from Indianapolis. This big and ponderous pitcher is no spring chicken but he is a tough old bird. Brooklyn may clout its way to the pennant by the free use of the Robinson pile driver but it will have to do it by brute force.

Chicago probably will not recover fully from the blow which befell one of the most promising teams in the league, when Maranville tried to shackle himself to a base bag in Los Angeles. No one will ever know what the Rabbit might have done for the Cubs.

Of the Philadelphia and Boston clubs, nothing but good. They need it. Neither of these teams, by baseball comparison, can hope to get out of the second division.

MERCHANTS PLAY PASADENA SUNDAY

Local Club to Make Second Appearance; Visitors Have Strong Team

After being rained out twice, the Glendale Merchants are again planning on taking the field, their opponents tomorrow at the ball park on San Fernando road being the Pasadena Paints, Manager M. R. Bacom announces. The Painters were scheduled to appear here two weeks ago, but too much moisture descended.

Walter Hydler and Red Conkwright will be the pitching staff for tomorrow, Manager Bacom said, with Hydler starting the game, an l Conkwright in reserve. Nobles will catch, Lefty Harrison or Bacom will be at first, Parsons at second, Acosta or Allen at third, Garcia at short, Harding in left, Sherman in center and George Harrison in right field.

Bill Shafer will pitch for the visitors. Pasadena's lineup will be: Kerwin, catcher; Shellenbach at first, De Porto at second, Linn at third, Haas at shortstop, Lillas in left, Switzer in center and Salerdorf in right field. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Stanford Favored To Win Track Meet Today

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 11.—Stanford loomed as an easy victor here today in the coast conference track meet with the University of Oregon. Coach Hayward only brought nineteen men and not all of them will be in first class condition. The prospects of a rather muddy track and field slightly favored the visitors but not enough to enable them to overcome the powerful point-getting aggregation that the Cardinals will place in the field.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Milwaukee is making as much of Filipino Pete Sarmiento as Ritchie Mitchell was in his hey-day. In the last eight months he has obliged six times in the cream city and the fans keep calling for more.

Just before Eddie Martin lost his bantamweight title he met Sarmiento in Milwaukee and the newspaper critics in most cases gave the decision to Pete.

Why he does not appear in the east the writer does not know. It looks as though the promoters were overlooking a good bet when they ignore this little buzz-saw who never stops from bell to bell. The Harry Greb-Mickey Walker fight, prospects of which seem bright now that the New York boxing commission has restored the welter king to good standing, is not exciting the fans greatly.

No one thinks that Mickey can knock Harry Greb out and vice versa.

Harry will be risking his title and will probably get a good price for so doing. It remains to be seen what Mickey, whose title will not be at stake, will get.

Polo Championship To Be Decided Today

DEL MONTE, April 11.—The Pacific coast intra-circuit polo cup event will wind up today with San Mateo's junior team meeting the Eleventh cavalry. On Sunday the finals of the Pacific coast junior championship will be played, the Midwicks of Los Angeles meeting Del Monte. The Pacific ocean open championship will be retained by the Midwick Country club, no team feeling strong enough to contest the title held by the "big four."

Eric Pedley, polo's most sensational "find" in a decade, was the outstanding star in the 15 to 8 defeat handed Del Monte by the Midwicks in the high handicap tournament.

Penn Rowers Second In London Shell Race

LONDON, April 11.—Pennsylvania university's one-mile relay team finished second today in the triangular race with Oxford and Cambridge, the latter heading the Americans at the tape. The race was held at the Queen's club, London, and its outcome caused considerable surprise, Oxford having been favored to win the race. The invading Americans were handicapped by a lack of sufficient preparation, arriving here less than a week ago.

ROYAL DECREE

ROME, April 11.—Regulations for ladies' court dress at the Italian court are being tightened up. Queen Elena has just issued an order that ladies attending the court must wear gold-bordered, azure-blue velvet trains, which must fall from the shoulders and be one and a half meters long.

RUTH'S CONDITION REPORTED BETTER

Rested Comfortably During Night; Improvement Is Noted, Says Doctor

NEW YORK, April 11.—Babe Ruth's condition was announced as having shown a decided improvement following the most comfortable night the patient has spent since taken ill at Asheville, N. C., some days ago while on tour with the Yanks and Dodgers.

After a visit to the Babe this morning, Dr. King issued a verbal bulletin, declaring that Ruth had rested comfortably and had enjoyed his longest sleep since becoming ill.

The Babe, he said, fell into a sound sleep after Mrs. Ruth had left him at 11:30 o'clock last night and did not awaken until the physician's visit. He then resumed his slumber until early this morning. Dr. King added that Ruth still had a slight fever and that his vitality was low, but that his powers of recuperation were so great that he looked for a steady improvement from now on.

Ruth is not expected to leave the hospital for a week, but some believe that it is not altogether an impossibility that he will be on the field for the Yankees' opening game on Tuesday.

Track Stars Gather For Triangular Meet

BERKELEY, April 11.—Midwest and far west clash today in a triangular track and field meet at California oval bringing together University of California, University of Wisconsin and the best track men of Southern California and the Southern conference all-stars.

Several track records were in danger, although the heavy rain last night may tend to slow up the track to such an extent that the sprinters may not be able to show their best. Rain ceased today, and while clouds were still in evidence, indications were that fair weather would prevail.

The competing teams enter the meet in good condition. California is in near top form in preparation for its annual clash with Stanford next Saturday. The Badgers have been working out here for three days and are in excellent shape after their long trip.

BOXING NOTES

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—"Mushy" Callahan, Los Angeles newsboy, was the holder today of a sensational victory over Dode Bercot, the Seattle welter, following their ten-round bout in Hollywood arena last night. Callahan beat the northerner badly in the first five rounds, but Bercot came strong in the ninth and tenth and practically evened things up.

Search For Glendale Man Covers Country

Search for Hollis T. Himes, 718 West Pioneer drive who disappeared between his Glendale home and his place of business in Los Angeles early last Monday morning, today assumed nation-wide proportions when police of all Pacific coast cities and in the interior as far as the Mississippi river were asked to aid in the hunt.

Police fear that he may have met with foul play at the hands of friends of L. L. Jones, head of a gang of motor thieves now serving a term in San Quentin penitentiary. Himes was active in obtaining Jones' conviction and he had been threatened a number of times because of testimony he gave at the trial in Los Angeles.

Although no trace of Himes has been found, and there is no indication that he has been murdered, police are now running down a number of clues that indicate he may have been spirited away from Glendale in his own automobile, seized shortly after he left his home Monday morning.

Three Boys Arrested Driving Stolen Auto

Two hours after they are alleged to have stolen an automobile at 529 Riverdale drive, three boys were arrested by Burbank police and the machine recovered. Charles H. Bird, 505 Pioneer drive reported the theft of the car at 11:30 o'clock last night. At 1:30 o'clock this morning the Burbank police informed Glendale headquarters that they had stopped the youths while driving through that city.

The boys, Everett Dodd, 1062 Senora street, Los Angeles; Agar Brown, 320-A North Kenwood street, Glendale and Kenneth Ostrander, 840 El Prado court, Torrance, are being held today at juvenile hall here. A complaint will be lodged against them by Bird.

Today she asked the police for his arrest for the theft of a coil of electric wire valued at $5.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 11.—With the exception of a few of the easily manipulated specialty stocks and industrials, values were slightly lower with the resumption of business in the stock market today. Fractional losses were recovered in the early trading in most of the active stocks, including the oils and many of the motor stocks. Rails were steady on a comparatively small volume of business.

This was the first session in which traders could make an appraisal of the market value of the Maxwell Motor shares under the proposed plan of reorganizing under the name of Chrysler corporation and making the preferred stock cumulative at 8 per cent from January 1, 1925. The "A" stock gained about 1½ points and sold at 99⅞, while the "B" stock dropped back 2 points at the opening, gradually regaining its former closing price at 62½.

In the face of a decline of 421,000 tons in forward business, and another decline indicated for April, United States Steel was firm around 114½. Firmness also characterized Baldwin, American Can and other industrial leaders.

With the cotton and coffee exchanges closed until Monday, speculative interest converged on the stock and grain markets. The sharp advance of wheat prices, with May wheat up 6c in Chicago and 8½c in Winnipeg, was stimulating to those who confidently predicted higher prices for grains.

The motor and railroad stocks were leaders in another rally in prices near the close of the first hour. Maxwell Motors "A" was up 5½ points, to a new high at 103¾; "B" stock reached 63¼.

Selling pressure was more pronounced near the close and prices were irregular. A spectacular jump of 25 points in Nash Motors brought that stock up to a new high at 345. Maxwell stocks receded from the high of the first hour, as also did active rails. Dodge preferred sold down to 100, despite the fact that allotments for the stock at par, outside of the dealers' shares, were only 10 per cent of subscription. Oils and rail shares were reactionary near the close. Liberty bonds and treasury issues were firm. The treasury 4¼s sold at a new high for the movement at 105.3.

French government bonds were heavy, but declines were moderate, in view of the critical situation in French politics. The French 8s sold at 99¼, French 7½s at 93 and the 7s, recently introduced to this market at 92, sold at 86¼. Polish 8s were strong around 95½.

The new Dodge Brothers' debenture 6s were admitted to trading and sold up to 99½, against offering price of 99.

Stock sales today, 453,400 shares; bonds, $6,680,000.

Sales for the week, 4,648,100 shares; bonds $49,748,000.

Sennett Comedians In Wild Dash To Blazes

"The fire department pulled a "bloomer" today.

Dashing out of fire station No. 1, department headquarters on Broadway, a dilapidated engine and decrepit hook and ladder truck narrowly missed running on the curb. Firemen climbing over the speeding machines clung with desperation to avoid being thrown to the street. A few fell off.

The machines roared—but their drivers were amazingly inefficient. They might have done credit to a garbage wagon.

But Mack Sennett didn't care. It was just the line of stuff that always brings a laugh. His comedy film company was using station No. 1 for location. The engine and truck were ancient and well-known studio props.

City Council of Los Angeles Passes Ordinances Covering Work for Eight Main Cross Streets

Ordinances ordering the paving of eight main cross streets in the Atwater Park district between Glendale and Los Feliz boulevards were passed by the Los Angeles City Council at yesterday's session. Twenty days will elapse in which property owners will be permitted to protest the proposed improvement.

Actual work on the streets will start early in May, according to C. E. Weidner, engineer for the paving company. Streets included in the list ordered paved by the council yesterday are Edenhurst avenue, Glenfeliz place, Valleybrink boulevard, Glenmanor place, Sunnynook drive, Ingledale terrace, Appleton avenue and Gardenside lane.

Traffic Blocked By Crash

A traffic jam, blocking automobiles for a mile and a half in all directions, occurred when two machines collided at the west end of Glendale avenue bridge Thursday night, blocking the entrance to the bridge. The cars were badly smashed, according to police records, and a period of twenty-five minutes was required to remove the wreckage before other machines could pass. During the interim, traffic both east and west was held up. A line of cars congregated along the boulevard from either end of the bridge. The accident occurred at 5 o'clock in the afternoon when traffic on Glendale boulevard is heaviest.

At the Baptist church, Perlita avenue and Tyburn street, there will be special Easter observances at the Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock. At the regular morning service at 11 o'clock, Rev. M. A special musical program will be rendered by the choir under the direction of Miss Rice, pianist. The Sunday school program has been arranged by Richard Campbell, superintendent. At night at 7:30 o'clock Rev. Utter will preach a second sermon on the ressurection of Christ. Following the night sermon baptismal services will be held.
